Consuming Utopia John Storey,2021-09-15 Consuming Utopia builds on critical insights into consumption and utopianism developed in two previous books by the author to elaborate what it means to read utopian fiction including dystopian and anti utopian from the critical perspective of cultural studies With a critical focus on social practices of reading rather than on the text itself John Storey advances a timely and relevant contribution to existing debates on utopian fiction offering new insights into how we might understand the politics of utopian fiction Finding readership and readers indispensable to the act of producing politics beyond the text Storey argues that if utopian fiction has a politics it is determined by those who in actuality pick up books and act on what they read rather than readers proposed by textuality By engaging with seminal concepts in cultural studies this book shows how reading utopian fiction works to make the meaning of such texts material and social and therefore available for politics An essential addition to the literature on utopian fiction this book will be of great interest to scholars and students in the areas of cultural studies literary studies comparative literature cultural politics utopian studies and political theory Three Early Modern Utopias Thomas More,Francis

Bacon, Henry Neville, 1999-11-04 Thomas More Utopia Francis Bacon New Atlantis Henry Neville The Isle of Pines With the publication of Utopia 1516 Thomas More introduced into the English language not only a new word but a new way of thinking about the gulf between what ought to be and what is His Utopia is at once a scathing analysis of the shortcomings of his own society a realistic suggestion for an alternative mode of social organization and a satire on unrealistic idealism Enormously influential it remains a challenging as well as a playful text This edition reprints Ralph Robinson's 1556 translation from More's original Latin together with letters and illustrations that accompanied early editions of Utopia Utopia was only one of many early modern treatments of other worlds This edition also includes two other hitherto less accessible utopian narratives New Atlantis 1627 offers a fictional illustration of Francis Bacon's visionary ideal of the role that science should play in the modern society Henry Neville's The Isle of Pines 1668 a precursor of Defoe's Robinson Crusoe engages with some of the sexual racial and colonialist anxieties of the end of the early modern period Together these texts illustrate the diversity of the early modern utopian imagination as well as the different purposes to which it could be put ABOUT THE SERIES For over 100 years Oxford World's Classics has made available the widest range of literature from around the globe Each affordable volume reflects Oxford's commitment to scholarship providing the most accurate text plus a wealth of other valuable features including expert introductions by leading authorities helpful notes to clarify the text up to date bibliographies for further study and much more
