S. Austin Allibone

Trinity 11 August 2013 Hymns:

Worship and Congregational Singing David Neu, 2016-06-30 This book constitutes the author's effort to provide a biblical foundation for answers to questions regarding congregational singing. The present work is broader in scope than the author's smaller book Volumes of Praise for a Vanishing God and unlike the earlier volume contains full documentation and end notes many of which pursue topics of interest that are mentioned only briefly in the text proper. Each chapter of this book ends with a brief list of questions to spur further study and discussion. It is hoped that this book may be useful as a text for a seminary course on congregational singing, a course that the author believes to be a great need for the church of the twenty-first century. Special attention is given to the issues raised in the music wars of the past fifty years.

Theology Inspiring Doxology—The Hymnody of Anne Dutton and Anne Steele Holly M. Farrow, 2025-09-15 From beginning to end the hymnic voices of eighteenth-century British hymnwriters Anne Dutton and Anne Steele join the Psalmist in declaring, "Thy statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage." Ps 119:54 KJV. With their consistent witness and faithfulness to the themes of Scripture, their hymns display an unswerving devotion to both truth and praise theology inspiring doxology. Through an examination of poetic language and biblical content, this book explores how the hymns of Dutton and Steele illustrate a closely interwoven relationship between theology and doxology that is revealed and bound together by the word of God. The purpose of the study is to highlight the fact that biblically faithful theological reflections of the mind paired with doxological engagement of the heart enable the church to present a more complete and more excellent offering to God. This study is the first book-length comparison of the hymns of Dutton and Steele; together the three extensive appendices present their published hymns in one volume complete with all Scripture references provided by the hymnists themselves. The church would benefit greatly if these hymns were rediscovered, studied further, and sung once again for their scriptural integrity and doxological message of hope in Christ.

It is the most historically and academically comprehensive examination of the subject to date.

The Abingdon Preaching Annual 2025 Charley Reeb, 2024-04-02 The local pastor's go-to resource for weekly sermon planning, The Abingdon Preaching Annual 2025 is Lectionary-based and follows the calendar year January–December. It includes special days like Maundy Thursday and Ash Wednesday and indexes for Scriptures and themes to assist preachers with non-Lectionary sermons. Each entry begins with a preacher's prayer for preparation, then moves to the key feature: a commentary on one or more texts for the week, exploring themes and storylines, theological reflections, and thoughts about how the text and topic relate to our lives today. Also included are ideas for bringing the text to life, stories, illustrations, ideas for further reading, questions the preacher might pose to the congregation, and suggestions for a call to action in response to the message. Finally, for the preacher's ongoing

The Secularization of Baptism Mark G. McKim,2025-01-31 Does God actually do anything in baptism Is it more than just a symbol Most early Baptists would have answered yes Most Baptists today would answer no How and why did this change happen and does it matter Providing thorough documentation of the changing understandings of baptism among American Canadian and English Baptists from the 1600s to the present day The Secularization of Baptism demonstrates that four factors led to the symbolic only position becoming dominant These were suspicion in reaction to Roman Catholicism of the idea of God revealing himself through the physical the influence of the Enlightenment and embarrassment with claims that God could be acting in the world today reaction against the Oxford Movement and reaction against the understanding of baptism advocated by the Disciples of Christ Campbellites The now dominant symbolic only position so focuses attention on what the believer is doing in baptism that God is seen as largely absent from and doing nothing through the rite in effect believers baptism has been secularized A carefully reasoned biblical and theological argument is made for a return to the Regular Particular Baptist view that God is both profoundly spiritually present and active in baptism while at the same time rejecting the sacramentalist position advocated by a small number of mid twentieth and twenty first century Baptists such as H Wheeler Robinson George Beasley Murray Stanley K Fowler and Anthony R Cross
