When Better Isn't Enough Evaluation Tools For The 21st Century Church:

When Better Isn't Enough Jill M. Hudson, 2004-02 Many sociologists and a growing number of church scholars have noted that we live in a time of transition from the modern era to the postmodern. Whenever a shift of this magnitude occurs it leaves all of life including the church in flux. We instinctively strive to stabilize the situation by re-establishing what has worked in the past. Increasingly however congregations are finding that the same old things done harder or better don't seem to make a difference. Author Jill Hudson argues We must identify new criteria for success and perhaps even for faithfulness and hold ourselves accountable to them. Approaching the postmodern era as a tremendous opportunity Hudson identifies 12 characteristics by which we can measure effective ministry for the early 21st century. Based on those 12 criteria Hudson has created evaluation tools an early measuring stick to help congregations evaluate their work in this new era. Not everything of the past is ineffective and best discarded she says nor will everything we try in the future be successful. But by faithfully listening for God's guidance and carefully evaluating progress using Hudson's tools looking at the ministry of the whole people of God as well as that of the professional staff congregations can improve their ministry help members and staff grow in effectiveness deepen a sense of partnership and add new richness to the dialogue about the congregation's future.

Education eleven directors of field education in seminaries and divinity schools across North America pass on their wisdom to both students and their supervisors Edited by Matthew Floding director of field education at Western Seminary in Holland Michigan this volume covers critical topics such as the art of supervision and formation the use of case studies and peer reflection groups self care and ministerial ethics and assessment Formation for ministry is especially challenging at this time in the church s life First the explosion of knowledge pluralism and consumerism and a host of other complicating factors make huge demands on what a minister must know to be effective in ministry Second with the erosion of thick religious subcultures the novice minister has fewer sources of practical wisdom to draw upon The next generation of ministers if they are to be more fully formed for ministry depends on skilled mentoring alongside wise supervisors This book is the tool to help them make the most of their field education experience A Sustainable Presbyterian Future Louis B. Weeks,2012-06-25

In this study of the Presbyterian Church U S A Louis Weeks examines the present state of the denomination and how congregations can grow in faith through the current time of transition in the church He considers markers of Presbyterian identity new ways of connecting and faith development and defining qualities of the church Recognizing that many congregations are changing in different ways Weeks includes case studies of congregations and interviews with leaders of local congregations and denominational leaders to explore aspects of Presbyterian faith and life that are viable and necessary for the future Holy Clarity Sarah B. Drummond,2009-06-22 In Holy Clarity Sarah Drummond explores the most basic reason leaders of religious organizations conduct evaluations To find and create God pleasing clarity regarding the organization s purpose and the impact of its activities Leadership and evaluation are not separate disciplines she argues Effective leaders evaluate because they need to know what is happening in their organizations and how those activities are effecting change Drummond first describes the way in which our postmodern culture makes clarity difficult to obtain She then looks at holy clarity from a biblical and theological perspective and make the case that it is a spiritual discipline that can stand on its own theological merits She presents four approaches to evaluation that can help a leader to guide a community toward greater clarity both when evaluating or analyzing programs and when planning and starting programs Finally she considers the work of clarification as a faith practice one that can make a pastor or layperson not just a better leader but a better Christian who is more firmly grounded in God Each chapter concludes with a fictional case study that provides a jumping off point for discussion and helps bring her theory to life Holy Clarity provides an accessible resource as an entry point for those who are eager to learn the best practices of this crucial discipline Governance and Ministry Dan

Hotchkiss,2009-04-15 In Governance and Ministry Dan Hotchkiss offers congregational leaders a roadmap and tools for changing the way boards and clergy work together to lead congregations Hotchkiss demonstrates that the right governance model is the one that best enables a congregation to fulfill its mission to achieve both the outward results and the inward quality of life to which it is called Resources on governance for the nonprofit sector have burgeoned over the past decade and this book translates some of what is most helpful from that world for clergy and lay leaders it also recognizes that in some ways congregations are unique and need governance structures and processes different from those that work in other organizations Leaders must continually balance the conserving function of an institution with the expectation of disruptive change inducting creativity that comes when individuals peek past the temple veil and catch fresh visions of the Holy Governance in congregations is not the science of achieving optimal results through organizational re engineering Governance is an expressive art like preaching The forms of our congregations must reflect the values and perceptions of the sacred at their heart Congregations need skills and methods for negotiating our way of governance and for passing the torch effectively to new leaders

Preparing the Pastors We Need George A. Mason, 2012-11-06 Amid the widespread discussion about the future of the church an important point is sometimes overlooked tomorrow s church will depend to a great extent on the new pastors of today who will serve and guide our churches in the years ahead George Mason s Preparing the Pastors We Need Reclaiming the Congregation s Role in Training Clergy makes a timely intervention asking us to redefine pastoral leadership by analyzing how in fact pastors are made in the first place The book highlights an exciting development in the training of pastors pastoral residency programs and mentoring Mason demonstrates that these programs work best when the congregations themselves not just leadership or staff are an active participant in the training In this way churches begin to reclaim their rightful role in the formation of the ministers that will serve them And at the same time they become healthier and more effective churches Mason gives us the analogy of physician training Medical school produces graduates with extensive knowledge of the body but a practicing doctor will require several more years of internship and residency Similarly our seminaries and divinity schools produce men and women with good biblical knowledge but they might not prepare a graduate for the task of helping a bereaved parishioner cope with the sudden loss of a loved one Moreover such areas as finances budgets personnel management and vocational identity are also not well suited to seminary study Mason shows that congregation based mentoring and residency are excellent ways to bridge this gap
