When Sorrow Judith Reynolds Brown:

When Sorrow Is Joy Judith Reynolds Brown, 2015-11-25 From the author This book began as a memoir of my high school years 1944 to 1947 It was written because I've always been grateful to have been part of a Church Youth Group that empowered me gave me a sense of purpose Soon the book began to develop a thesis if parents want to help their adolescent children gain confidence and maturity they need to help the child connect with some organized community be it an orchestra a chorus a sport whatever makes the child want to work at that community's purpose I believe adolescents need to gain the idea that they are not loners but successful participants in their chosen community's world The Scroll of Phi Delta

Transfiguring America Jeffrey Steele, 2001 Transfiguring America is the product of more than ten years of research and numerous published articles on Margaret Fuller arguably America's first feminist theorist and one of the most important woman writers in the nineteenth century Focusing on Fuller's development of a powerful language that paired cultural critique with mythmaking Steele shows why her writing had such a vital impact on the woman's rights movement and modern conceptions of gender This groundbreaking study pays special attention to the ways in which Fuller's feminist consciousness and social theory emerged out of her mourning for herself and others her dialogue with Emersonian Transcendentalism and her eclectic reading in occult and mythical sources Transfiguring America is the first book to provide detailed analyses of all of Fuller's major texts including her mystical Dial essays correspondence with Emerson Summer on the Lakes 1844 poetry Woman in the Nineteenth Century and New York Tribune essays written both in New York and Europe Starting from her own profound sense of loss as a marginalized woman Fuller eventually recognized the ways in which the foundational myths of American society buttressed by conservative religious ideologies replicated dysfunctional images of manhood and womanhood With Woman in the Nineteenth Century after exploring the roots of oppression in her essays and poetry Fuller advanced the cause of woman's rights by conceptualizing a more fluid and equitable model of gender founded upon the mythical reconfiguration of human potential But as her horizons expanded Fuller demanded not only political equality for women but also emotional intellectual and spiritual freedom for all victims of social oppression By the end of her career Steele shows Fuller had blended personal experience and cultural critique into the imaginative reconstruction of American society Beginning with a fervent belief in personal reform she ended her career with the apocalyptic conviction that the dominant myths both of selfhood and national identity must be transfigured Out of the ashes of personal turmoil and political revolution she looked for the phoenix of a revitalized society founded upon the ideal of political justice African Kavanaugh, and Brown (illustrated) William Harris Miller, 1906 Robert Miller was probably born in Ireland in the early 1700s and immigrated to Virginia. In about 1731 he married Ann Lynn. They probably settled in Goochland or Albemarle County where they reared their family. He died after 1750. Descendants and relatives lived in Massachusetts, Kentucky, Indiana, North Carolina, Virginia, Montana, Oregon, Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas, and elsewhere.

Spectral Spaces and Hauntings Christina Lee, 2017-02-17 This anthology explores the spatial dimension and politics of haunting. It considers how the appearance of absence, emptiness, and the imperceptible can indicate an overwhelming presence of something that once was and still is there. At its core, the book asks how and why do certain places haunt us. Drawing from a diversity of mediums, forms, and disciplinary approaches, the contributors to Spectral Spaces and Hauntings illustrate the complicated ways absent presences can manifest and be registered. The case studies range from the memory sites of a terrorist attack, the lost home, a vanished mining town, and abandoned airports to the post-apocalyptic wastelands in literary fiction, the photographic and filmic surfaces where spectres materialise, and the body as a site for re-corporealising the disappeared and dead. In ruminating on the after-effects of spectral spaces on human experience, the anthology importantly foregrounds the ethical and political imperative of engaging with ghosts and following their traces.

Social Palliation Parin Dossa, 2020-10-07 Social Palliation is a pioneering study on living and dying as articulated by first-generation Iranian and Ismaili Muslim communities in Canada. Using ethnographic narratives, Parin Dossa makes a case for a paradigm shift from palliative care to social palliation. Experiences of displacement and resettlement reveal that life and death must be understood as an integrated unit if we are to appreciate what it is like to be awakened to our human existence. In the wake of structural exclusion and systemic suffering, social palliation brings to light displaced persons' endeavours to restore the integrity of life and death. Dossa highlights the point that death, conjoined with life, is embedded within the socio-cultural and spiritual experience. Here, a caring society is not perceived in fragments as is the case with traditional institutional care or care offered during end-of-life. Rather, Dossa draws attention to an organic form of caring illustrated through the trajectories of storied lives. In exemplifying more humane aspects of social palliation, this book foregrounds sacred traditions to illustrate their potential to evoke deep-level conversations across socio-political boundaries on what it is like to live and die in the contemporary world.
