The Many Tongues of Literacy Ray B. Browne,1992-06 Statistics indicate that more than half the population of America is illiterate or subliterate in the conventional sense but very literate in other media such as television sports and leisure time activities But statistics can lie or tell only half a fact Since the languages of literacy are constantly expanding and developing it is time that American educators and the public in general reexamine their definitions of literacy and the media in which we need to be literate Therefore educators must redefine literacy if they are to be realistic about its sources uses and values The need is vital to a developing world
