

A wooden ladder with a light-colored frame and dark rungs leans against a dark, textured wall. At the top of the ladder, a blue, translucent, rectangular object, possibly a book or a piece of paper, is resting. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights on the ladder's rungs and the blue object, and deep shadows on the wall.

McBeath, 2025-08-13 This book guides human service organizations in their transformative efforts to create greater workforce inclusion and well being through a range of forward thinking practices promoting employee mental health providing personal and professional wellness coaching engaging in multisolving strategies identifying supports for individuals as they enhance organizational climate building meaningful evaluative practices with a focus on social justice elevating the financial well being of lower wage workers employing a trauma informed model of leadership and preparing graduate students with online and in person pedagogies for inclusive supervision and leadership Each chapter provides a unique voice and view into current needs and practices that human service managers grapple with in addressing improving and even transforming workforce wellbeing inclusion and leadership development These thoughtful perspectives and proposed actions will prove inspiring in the daunting yet incredibly important work carried out every day by nonprofit and public human service managers and in the professional discourses of human service leaders researchers and educators This book contains eight chapters by diverse authors representing academic institutions and human service leaders and professionals It will be essential to students and researchers in social work human services and related fields It will also be beneficial for human service professionals nonprofit and public sector managers educators and scholars The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Human Service Organizations *The Routledge International Handbook
