Dances of the Self in Heinrich von Kleist, E.T.A. Hoffmann and Heinrich Heine Lucia Ruprecht, 2017-03-02 Lucia Ruprecht's study is the first monograph in English to analyse the relationship between nineteenth century German literature and theatrical dance Combining cultural history with close readings of major texts by Heinrich von Kleist E T A Hoffmann and Heinrich Heine the author brings to light little known German resources on dance to address the theoretical implications of examining the interdiscursive and intermedial relations between the three authors literary works aesthetic reflections on dance and dance of the period In doing so she not only shows how dancing and writing relate to one another but reveals the characteristics that make each mode of expression distinct unto itself Readings engage with literary modes of understanding physical movement that are neglected under the regime of eighteenth century aesthetic theory and of classical ballet setting the human frail and expressive body against the smoothly idealised neoclassicist ideal Particularly important is the way juxtaposing texts and performance practice allows for the emergence of meta discourses about trauma and repetition and their impact on aesthetics and formulations of the self and the human body Related to this is the author's concept of performative exercises or dances of the self which constitute a decisive force within the formation of subjectivity

that is enacted in the literary texts Joining performance studies with psychoanalytical theory this book opens up new pathways for understanding Western theatrical dance s theoretical historical and literary continuum Tango And The Political Economy Of Passion Marta Savigliano, 2018-02-06 What is tango Dance music and lyrics of course but also a philosophy a strategy a commodity even a disease This book explores the politics of tango tracing tango s travels from the brothels of Buenos Aires to the cabarets of Paris and the shako dansu clubs of Tokyo The author is an Argentinean political theorist and a dance professor at the University of California at Riverside She uses her tango tongue to tell interwoven tales of sexuality gender race class and national identity Along the way she unravels relations between machismo and colonialism postmodernism and patriarchy exoticism and commodification In the end she arrives at a discourse on decolonization as intellectual unlearning Marta Savigliano s voice is highly personal and political Her account is at once about the exoticization of tango and about her own fate as a Third World woman intellectual A few sentences from the preface are indicative Tango is my womb and my tongue a trench where I can shelter and resist the colonial invitations to universalism a stubborn fatalist mood when technocrats and theorists offer optimistic and seriously revised versions of alternatives for the Third World an opportunistic metaphor to talk about myself and my stories as a success of the civilization development colonization of Am ca Latina and a strategy to figure out through the history of the tango a hooked up story of people like myself Tango is my changing resourceful source of identity And because I am where I am outside tango hurts and comforts me Tango is a sad thought that can be danced Savigliano employs the tools of ethnography history body movement analysis and political economy Well illustrated with drawings and photos dating back to the 1880s this book is highly readable entertaining and provocative It is sure to be recognized as an important contribution in the fields of cultural studies performance studies decolonization and women of color feminism
