

What is the novel?

- E.M. Forster in Aspects of the Novel cites the definition of a Frenchman named Abel Chevalley: "a fiction in prose of a certain extent" and adds that he defines "extent" as over 50,000 words.
- The word "novel" (which wasn't even used until the end of the 18th century) is an English transliteration of the Italian word "novella"--used to describe a short, compact, broadly realistic tale popular during the medieval period (e.g. The Decameron).
- The novel deals with a human character in a social situation, man as a social being.
- The novel places more emphasis on character, especially one well-rounded character, than on plot.
- Another initial major characteristic of the novel is realism--a full and authentic report of human life.
- The traditional novel has:
 - a unified and plausible plot structure
 - sharply individualized and believable characters
 - a pervasive illusion of reality
