Theological Aesthetics God In Imagination Beauty And Art:

Theological Aesthetics Richard Viladesau, 1999-03-25 This book explores the role of aesthetic experience in our perception and understanding of the holy Richard Viladesau's goal is to articulate a theology of revelation examined in relation to three principal dimensions of the aesthetic realm feeling and imagination beauty or taste and the arts After briefly considering ways in which theology itself can be imaginative or beautiful Viladesau concentrates on the theological significance of aesthetic data provided by each of the three major spheres of aesthetic perception and response Throughout the work the underlying question is how each of these spheres serves as a source however ambiguous of revelation Although he frames much of his argument in terms of Catholic theology from the Church Fathers to Karl Rahner Hans Urs von Balthasar Bernard Lonergan and David Tracy Viladesau also makes extensive use of ideas from the Protestant theologian of the arts Gerardus van der Leeuw and draws insights from such diverse thinkers as Hans Goerg Gadamer Wolfhart Pannenberg and Iris Murdoch His analysis is enlivened by the artistic examples he selects the music of Mozart as contemplated by Karl Barth Schoenberg's opera Moses und Aron the sculptures of Chartres Cathedral poems by Rilke and Michelangelo and many others What emerges from this study is what Viladesau terms a transcendental theology of aesthetics In Thomistic terms he finds that beauty is not only a perfection but a transcendental That is any instance of beauty rightly perceived and rightly understood can be seen to imply divinely beautiful things as well In other words Viladesau argues God is the absolute and necessary condition for the possibility of beauty

Theological Aesthetics Richard Viladesau, 1999 In this book Richard Viladesau construes Christian theology as a theological aesthetics He examines Christian revelation and its presuppositions in relationship to three interconnected meanings of the aesthetic in modern thought human cognition as feeling and imagination the realm of the beautiful and the arts

Theological Aesthetics Gesa Elsbeth Thiessen, 2005 While interest in the relationship between theology and the arts is on the rise there are very few resources for students and teachers let alone a comprehensive text on the subject This book fills that lacuna by providing an anthology of readings on theological aesthetics drawn from the first century to the present A superb sourcebook Theological Aesthetics brings together original texts that are relevant and timely to scholars today Editor Gesa Elsbeth Thiessen has taken a careful inclusive approach to the book including articles and extracts that are diverse and ecumenical as well as representative of gender and ethnicity The book is organized chronologically and each historical period begins with commentary by Thiessen that sets the selections in context These engaging readings range broadly over themes at the intersection of religion and the arts including beauty and revelation the vision of God artistic and divine creation God as artist images of God the interplay of the senses and the intellect human imagination mystical writings meanings of signs and symbols worship liturgy doxology the relationship of word and image icons and iconoclasm the role of the arts in twentieth century theology and much more

Spirit and Beauty Patrick Sherry, 1992 Many Christian theologians have associated beauty both in nature and art with the Holy Spirit They include early Fathers like St Irenaeus and St Clement of Alexandria and later writers like Calvin Jonathan Edwards Sergius Bulgakov and Hans von Balthasar An exploration of early thought on the topic this book is an introduction to theological aesthetics Besides examining the connection made between the Holy Spirit and beauty Sherry expands on the theme by considering related topics such as divine glory inspiration and the eschatological character of beauty He effectively brings together two areas of lively interest in contemporary Christianity the theology of the Holy Spirit and theological aesthetics

Faith and Beauty Edward Farley, 2020-04-14 Aesthetics and theological aesthetics usually imply a focus on questions about the arts and how faith or religion relates to the arts only the final pages of this work take up that problem The central theme of this book is that of beauty Farley employs a new typology of western texts on beauty and a theological analysis of the image of God and redemption to counter the centuries long tendency to ignore or marginalize beauty and the aesthetic as part of the life of faith Studying the interpretation of beauty in ancient Greece eighteenth century England the work of Jonathan Edwards and nineteenth and twentieth century philosophies of human self transcendence the author explores whether Christian existence the life of faith and the ethical exclude or require an aesthetic dimension in the sense of beauty The work will be of particular interest to those interested in Christian theology ethics and religion and the arts

God's Beauty-in-Act Stephen M. Garrett, 2013-07-24 Jurgen Moltmann and others contend that Christian theology and the church face a dual crisis one of relevance and the other of identity Despite making this pronouncement nearly forty years ago the church in the West continues to struggle with this crisis Several proposals have been espoused from the way of wisdom to the way of ecclesial praxis Yet little attention is given in Protestant theological discourse to the role God's beauty plays in bringing theology and ethics together By neglecting God's beauty for theological discourse we risk diminishing Christian worship witness and wisdom God's Beauty in Act addresses these issues in part by arguing that the redemptive creative suffering and glorious resurrection of Christ are the nexus of God's being beauty and Christian living God's beauty understood as the fittingness of the incarnate Son's actions in the Spirit to the Father's will radiates God's glory and draws perceivers into the dramatic movements of God's triune life These movements serve as the patterns that shape the imagination enabling participants to perform their parts creatively and fittingly in God's drama of redemption In doing so human beings flourish as they jettison false identities and realities of their own making that are incommensurate with God's purpose found in Christ by the Spirit

Hans Urs von Balthasar and the Phenomenology of Art Brett David Potter, 2022-09-23 The work of the influential Jesuit theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar 1905-1988 has become a common point of reference in discussing the relationship of theology and the arts However the full significance of his theological aesthetics for both the emerging field of theology and the arts as well as for interdisciplinary conversation with contemporary art and theory remains to be unfolded This book explores the ways in which Balthasar's theological aesthetics when taken together with his theological dramatics and theo logic yield a theologically informed phenomenology of the work of art with rich implications for contemporary theologies of art By investigating the nature and disclosure of beauty and being through art Balthasar's theological re-reading of Heidegger his theo-dramatic relation of all forms to Christ and his phenomenology of truth Balthasar's philosophical and theological insights into the nature of art are presented as a resource for a constructive theology of art which springs from the depths of his theological aesthetics ReVisioning James Romaine, Linda Stratford, 2014-05-20 ReVisioning Critical Methods of Seeing Christianity in the History of Art examines the application of art historical methods to the history of Christianity and art As methods of art history have become more interdisciplinary there has been a notable emergence of discussions of religion in art history as well as related fields such as visual culture and theology This book represents the first critical examination of scholarly methodologies applied to the study of Christian subjects themes and contexts in art ReVisioning contains original work from a range of scholars each of whom has addressed the question in regard to a well known work of art or body of work How have particular methods of art history been applied and with what effect The study moves from the third century to the present providing extensive treatment and analysis of art historical methods applied to the history of Christianity and art Christ Across the Disciplines Roger Lundin, 2013-10-03 In Christ across the Disciplines a group of distinguished scholars from across the theological spectrum explores the dynamic relationship between the Christian faith and the life of the mind Although the essays in this volume are rooted in a rich understanding of the past they focus primarily on how Christian students teachers and scholars might best meet the challenges of intellectual and cultural life in a global world This book ranges widely over the broad terrain of contemporary academic and cultural life covering such topics as the enormous growth of political activism in late twentieth century evangelicalism the dynamics of literature and faith in the African American experience the dramatic implications of globalization for those who profess Christ and practice the life of the mind and more A Theological Aesthetics of Liberation Vicente Chong, 2019-02-07 Since its emergence in the sixties of the last century liberation theology in Latin America has paid little attention to the areas of aesthetics and art At the same time theological aesthetics seldom has been directly and explicitly concerned about the reality of the poor and the struggle for justice This mutual disinterest between liberation theology and theological aesthetics is regrettable because discerning a correlation between them would benefit both theological disciplines in their attempt to understand the saving action of God in the world It is the intention of this book to fill that gap A Theological Aesthetics of Liberation correlates liberation theology and theological aesthetics exploring different themes such as the liberating power of art and how the Spirit of God is involved in the process of liberation in and through art This study is a critical reflection upon the question of the beauty of Jesus Christ especially in relationship with the event of the cross and upon its meaning for Christian life This book analyzes such topics in conversation with important theologians Gustavo Guti rrez Jon Sobrino Karl Rahner Hans Urs von Balthasar Edward Schillebeeckx and other contemporary Christian theologians who have explored these themes Arts, Theology, and the Church Kimberly J. Vrudny, Wilson Yates, 2005 Why should the church be involved with the arts What are the roles that the arts play in the religious life How does art reveal the presence of God What is the relationship between the spiritual and the aesthetic What is the relationship between Christian symbols and their artistic expression How can the arts be used in the practice of ministry and worship A renewed interest in religion and the arts is creating these questions as it emerges in both academic and church settings Arts Theology and the Church a never before published collection of essays from pre eminent scholars in the field of religion and the arts reveals these scholars most edgy contemporary thoughts It is a foundational work that offers new understandings about the relationship of the arts to theology history and the practice of ministry in the church

Spirit and Beauty Patrick Sherry, 2002 This text discusses what both the early Fathers and later writers such as Calvin and Sergius Bulgakov said about the association of beauty both in nature and art with the Holy Spirit It also considers topics such as divine glory inspiration and the eschatological character of beauty

Faith and Beauty Edward Farley, 2001 Farley theology Vanderbilt U offers in this slim volume a satisfyingly profound exegesis on the question of beauty s relation to faith within the Christian tradition No stranger to contemporary theory and well versed in philosophy Farley writes from a Christian perspective as he examines faith and beauty s tumultuous relationship to build a case for the innate presence of the divine within the beautiful

New Horizons in Hispanic/Latino(a) Theology Benjamin Valentin, 2003 U S Latinx theology is a formidable tradition of varied discourses reflecting the richly textured reality of Latinx life in the United States The writings of the third generation of U S Latinx religious scholarship provide a window on some of the new turns and methodological directions being taken in Hispanic Latinx theology About these new directions the contributors to New Horizons in Hispanic Latino a Theology ask What do these directions mean for Latinx religious studies In suggesting ways of proceeding the contributors dare to defy disciplinary lines and expectations They offer us new horizons
