Harry Shutt

Women Population And Global Crisis A Political Economic Analysis:

Women, Population and Global Crisis Asoka Bandarage, 1997-06 Following a look at conventional ideologies of population control the author develops an alternative analysis of overpopulation exploring the roots of the environmental crisis violence and inequality en route Critiquing capitalism industrialism patriarchy and white supremacy she shows how population control acts as another dimension of our essentially hierarchical world order one that is moving us inexorably towards violence and destruction Finally she explores new global visions and efforts towards peace justice and ecology Paper edition unseen 25 00 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Sustainability and Well-Being A.

Bandarage, 2016-01-06 Asoka Bandarage provides an integrated analysis of the twin challenges of environmental sustainability and human well being by investigating them as interconnected phenomena requiring a paradigmatic psychosocial transformation She presents an incisive social science analysis and an alternative philosophical perspective on the needed transition from a worldview of domination to one of partnership      Discourse on Applied Sociology: Volume

2 Samir Dasgupta, Robyn Bateman Driskell, 2007-08 This engaging two volume study pursues a balance between theoretical and practical sociology NP Volume II subtitled Practising Perspectives provides workable guidelines for social scientists policymakers planners administrators and social activists The reader is also introduced to the sophisticated research methods employed in the social sciences Emphasizing cross cultural experiences and a global perspective the essays study social problems using inductive and deductive approaches measurable concepts and quantitative analysis Modern crises precipitated by war terrorism anarchy and poverty are examined in practical and realistic terms      Discourse on Applied Sociology: Practising perspective Samir Dasgupta, Robyn Bateman Driskell, 2007 This engaging and wide ranging two volume study urges a balance between theoretical and practical sociology      The Trouble with Capitalism Harry Shutt, 1998-06

Recent instability in financial markets has put paid to the idea that the foundations of the global economy are basically sound This timely book forsakes the shibboleths of both the Left and liberal economists to examine afresh the actual behaviour patterns and tendencies of economic institutions in the OECD countries of the 1980s and 90s      Son Preference Navtej K. Purewal, 2010-04-01 The preference for male children transcends many societies and cultures making it an issue of local and global dimensions While son preference is not a new phenomenon and has existed historically in many parts of Asia its contemporary expressions illustrate the gendered outcomes of social power relations as they interact and intersect with culture economy and technologies Son Preference brings together key debates on the subject of son preference by assessing existing work in the field and providing new insights through primary research The book covers a broad range of social science discussions and draws upon textual and ethnographic material from India Son Preference will be useful to students scholars activists and anyone interested in the issues surrounding gender inequity sex selection and skewed sex ratios

volume presents the critical perspectives of feminists critical race theorists and queer and postcolonial theorists who question the adoption of European norms in the postcolonial world and whether such norms are enabling for disenfranchised communities or if they simply reinforce relations of domination and exploitation It examines how postcolonial interventions alter the study of politics and society both in the postcolony and in Euro America as well as of the power relations between them Challenging conventional understandings of international politics this volume pushes the boundaries of the social sciences by engaging with alternative critical approaches and innovatively and provocatively addressing previously disregarded aspects of international politics The fourteen contributions in this volume focus on the silencing and exclusion of vulnerable groups from claims of freedom equality and rights while highlighting postcolonial queer feminist struggles for transnational justice radical democracy and decolonization drawing on in depth empirically informed analyses of processes and struggles in Asia Africa Europe and Latin America They address political and social topics including global governance and development politics neo colonialism international aid and empire resistance decolonization and the Arab Spring civil society and social movement struggles international law democratization and subalternity body politics and green imperialism By drawing on other disciplines in the social sciences and humanities this book both enriches and expands the discipline of political science and international relations Primary readership for this volume will be academics and students concerned with globalization studies postcolonial theory gender studies and international relations as well as political activists and policy makers concerned with social and transnational justice human rights democracy gender justice and women s rights

Religions and Development Emma Tomalin, 2013-07-03 The text will present explain and critically evaluate different sorts of literature from a range of disciplines that are relevant to thinking about the relationships between religions and development It provides insight into a comprehensive range of approaches to guide readers through current debates about the role that religions play in development from positive contributions to more complicated and contested notions of impact for instance in terms of religiously inspired violence or gender inequality

Routledge Handbook of Gender and Environment Sherilyn MacGregor, 2017-07-14 The Routledge Handbook of Gender and Environment gathers together state of the art theoretical reflections and empirical research from leading researchers and practitioners working in this transdisciplinary and transnational academic field Over the course of the book these contributors provide critical analyses of the gender dimensions of a wide range of timely and challenging topics from sustainable development and climate change politics to queer ecology and interspecies ethics in the so called Anthropocene Presenting a comprehensive overview of the development of the field from early political critiques of the male domination of women and nature in the 1980s to the sophisticated intersectional and inclusive analyses of the present the volume is divided into four parts Part I Foundations Part II Approaches Part III Politics policy and practice Part IV Futures Comprising chapters written by forty contributors with different perspectives and working in a wide range of research contexts around the world this Handbook will serve as a vital resource for scholars students and practitioners in environmental studies gender studies human geography and the environmental humanities and social sciences more broadly Handbook of Research on Development and Religion Matthew Clarke,2013-01-01 With eighty percent of the world s population professing religious faith religious belief is a common human characteristic This fascinating and highly unique Handbook brings together state of the art research on incorporating religion into development studies literature and research The expert contributors illustrate that as religious identity is integral to a community s culture exclusion of religious consideration will limit successful development interventions it is therefore necessary to conflate religion and development to enhance efforts to improve the lives of the poor Issues addressed include key tenets beliefs and histories of religions religious response to development concerns gender environment education microfinance humanitarian assistance and the role of faith based organisations and missionaries in the wider development context Practical case studies of countries across Africa Eastern Europe and the Pacific including Australia underpin the research providing evidence that the intersection between religion and development is neither new nor static By way of conclusion suggestions are prescribed for extensive further research in order to advance understanding of this nascent field This path breaking Handbook will prove a thought provoking and stimulating reference tool for academics researchers and students in international development international relations comparative religion and theology
