

The background of the cover is a close-up photograph of a wooden workbench. It features a large, dark metal hand saw lying diagonally across the top. To the left, there are several light-colored wood shavings. In the center, a chisel with a light-colored wooden handle and a metal shaft lies horizontally. To the right, a wooden drill bit with a metal shaft is positioned vertically. Above the drill bit, there is a small, dark wooden object that looks like a piece of a birdhouse or a decorative joint. The wood of the workbench is a mix of light and dark brown tones, showing natural grain patterns and some wear.
