The Yellow Wall Paper Charlotte Perkins Gilman, 1899 The Yellow Wallpaper Charlotte Perkins Gilman, 2020-10-08 First appearing in 1892 The Yellow Wallpaper is a searing vision of a distinctively feminine form of madness and commands attention as an arresting tale of horror and a moving look into a woman's mind The story uncompromisingly thrusts the reader into the mind of the narrator She is a woman forced ostensibly for her own good into a rest cure a psychological straitjacket so constricting that she begins to unravel Her mental dissolution is described with such fierce immediacy that The Yellow Wallpaper has been read and anthologized as a chilling horror tale While it can easily be appreciated for its disorienting thrills the story's true resonance comes from its matter of fact portrayal of a woman pushed to the rim of sanity by society's demands and her family's utter inability to conceive of the fact that she cannot fit within their strictures Shot through with unforgettable images of the yellow wallpaper its shadowy depths and what seems to lurk there The Yellow Wallpaper builds to a climax that combines the narrative impact of an Edgar Allan Poe story with a wrenching protest of the treatment of women Unique and genre bending Gilman's story was unrivaled in its era and its power endures undiminished today With an eye catching new cover and professionally typeset manuscript this edition of The Yellow Wallpaper is both modern and readable

The Yellow Wallpaper (Illustrated) Charlotte Perkins Gilman, 2014-04-10 The Yellow Wallpaper is a 6 000 word short story by the American writer Charlotte Perkins Gilman first published in January 1892 in The New England Magazine It is regarded as an important early work of American feminist literature illustrating attitudes in the 19th century toward women's physical and mental health Presented in the first person the story is a collection of journal entries written by a woman whose physician husband has confined her to the upstairs bedroom of a house he has rented for the summer She is forbidden from working and has to hide her journal from him so she can recuperate from what he calls a temporary nervous depression a slight hysterical tendency a diagnosis common to women in that period The windows of the room are barred and there is a gate across the top of the stairs allowing her husband to control her access to the rest of the house The story depicts the effect of confinement on the narrator's mental health and her descent into psychosis With nothing to stimulate her she becomes obsessed by the pattern and color of the wallpaper It is the strangest yellow that wall paper It makes me think of all the yellow things I ever saw not beautiful ones like buttercups but old foul bad yellow things But there is something else about that paper the smell The only thing I can think of that it is like is the color of the paper A yellow smell In the end she imagines there are women creeping around behind the patterns of the wallpaper and comes to believe she is one of them She locks herself in the room now the only place she feels safe refusing to leave when the summer rental is up For outside you have to creep on the ground and everything is green instead of yellow But here I can creep smoothly on the floor and my shoulder just fits in that long smooch around the wall so I cannot lose my way A woman gradually suffers a mental breakdown as a result of confinement and denial of her creative energies by her husband

The Yellow Wallpaper C. Gilman, 2018-02-24 The Yellow Wallpaper original title The Yellow Wall paper A Story is a 6 000 word short story by American writer Charlotte Perkins Gilman first published in January 1892 in The New England Magazine. It is regarded as an important early work of American feminist literature illustrating attitudes in the 19th century toward women's health, both physical and mental. The story details the descent of a young woman into madness. Her supportive though misunderstanding husband John believes it is in her best interests to go on a rest cure after the birth of their child. The family spends the summer at a colonial mansion that has in the narrator's words something queer about it. She and her husband move into an upstairs room that she assumes was once a nursery, having it serve as their bedroom due to its multitude of windows which provide the air so needed in her recovery. In addition to the couple, John's sister Jennie is present; she serves as their housekeeper. Like most nurseries at the time, the windows are barred, the wallpaper has been torn, and the floor is scratched. The narrator attributes all these to children, as most of the damage is isolated to their reach. Ultimately, though, the reader is left unsure as to the source of the room's damage.
