Theology Creation And Environmental Ethics From Creatio Ex Nihilo To Terra Nullius:

Theology, Creation, and Environmental Ethics Whitney Bauman, 2009-04-30 Winner of the John Templeton Award for Theological Promise 2009 This book argues that the Christian doctrine of creatio ex nihilo creation out of nothing sets up a support system for a logic of domination toward human and earth others Conceptually inspired by the work of theologian Catherine Keller and feminist philosopher of the environment Val Plumwood it follows a genealogical method in examining how the concept of creation out of nothing materializes in the world throughout different periods in the history of the Christian West

Christian Doctrine and the Grammar of Difference Janice McRandal, 2015 Rees argues that the doctrinal narrative of creation fall and redemption provides resources to resolve the theological impasse of difference in contemporary feminist theology The divine economy reveals a God who enters into history and destabilizes fixed binaries and oppressive categories As created subjects we are sustained affirmed and drawn back into the Triune life patterns present in liturgy prayer and practices of contemplation The grammar of Christian faith cannot ultimately be uncovered except in prayer opened beyond itself to a source of life and giving

Environmental Beliefs in History Isabella Gagliardi, This volume is the result of a collaboration among three European universities committed to a more sustainable and ethically sound future From an interdisciplinary perspective that combines history theology and law the book explores how ecological crises are intertwined with cultural practices beliefs and legal systems It offers a critical examination of topics ranging from spiritual worldviews and environmental justice to cultural heritage and activism The texts draw not only on academic research but also on the authors personal experiences Instead of prescribing solutions to the reader the aim is to encourage readers to engage in reflection and dialogue themselves In addition the position of the university as a transformative space for ecological and ethical learning in the Anthropocene is highlighted

The Insurgency of the Spirit Robert E. Shore-Goss, 2020-10-06 The Insurgency of the Spirit taps mutli disciplinary methodologies of post colonial biblical scholarship and anthropology liberation theologies indigenous studies grief trauma research and nature meditation writings to shape a constructive retrieval of the animist Jesus The vision that emerges is one that sets forward an Earth loving Jesus who challenges Christians in particular to mobilize against the destructive relationship that exists between imperial religion and political systems

Queer Ancient Ways Zairong Xiang, 2018 Queer Ancient Ways advocates a profound unlearning of colonial modern categories as a pathway to the discovery of new forms and theories of queerness in the most ancient of sources In this radically unconventional work Zairong Xiang investigates scholarly receptions of mythological figures in Babylonian and Nahua creation myths exposing the ways they have consistently been gendered as feminine in a manner that is not supported and in some cases actively discouraged by the texts themselves An exercise in decolonial learning to learn from non Western and non modern cosmologies Xiang s work uncovers a rich queer imaginary that had been all but lost to modern thought in the process critically revealing the operations of modern colonial systems of gender sexuality and knowledge formation that have functioned from the Conquista de America in the sixteenth century to the present to keep these systems in obscurity At the heart of Xiang's argument is an account of the way the unfounded feminization of figures such as the Babylonian co-creatrix Tiamat and the Nahua creator figures Tlaltecuhltli and Coatlicue is complicit with their monstrification This complicity tells us less about the mythologies themselves than about the dualistic system of gender and sexuality within which they have been studied underpinned by a consistent tendency in modern colonial thought to insist on unbridgeable categorical differences By contextualizing these deities in their respective mythological linguistic and cultural environments through a unique combination of methodologies and critical traditions in English Spanish French Chinese and Nahuatl Xiang departs from the over reliance of much contemporary queer theory on European post modern thought Much more than a queering of the non Western and non modern Queer Ancient Ways thus constitutes a decolonial and transdisciplinary engagement with ancient cosmologies and ways of thought which are in the process themselves revealed as theoretical sources of and for the queer imagination

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2009

Bibliographic Index, 2010      A Postcolonial Theology of Life Jea Sophia Oh, 2011-12-01 We have here nothing less than a theology of life life in the intensity of its postcolonial ecology rippling through the creaturely interconnections of our planetary process yet at the same time grounded in the beautiful local metaphors of an Asian counter history Jea Sophia Oh's luminous book is a must read for all who care about the global socio ecology about process theology about eco feminism about comparative theology singly and together Catherine Keller author of On the Mystery and Face of the Deep This exciting book begs classification as a second generation exercise in postcolonial theology It exceeds first generation exercises in the sheer audacity of its eclecticism Postcolonial theology fuses with ecotheology and that amalgam combines in turn with comparative theology transnational feminism and contextual theology It's enough to make one believe that theology may have a future after all in the twenty first century Stephen D Moore author of Empire and Apocalypse and co editor of Postcolonial Biblical Criticism and Planetary Loves Spivak Postcoloniality and Theology Jea Sophia Oh promises and delivers a book on a multifaceted ethics that is a timely addition to the genre because it opens a scholarly space for rethinking an appropriate relationship among all living things She bridges postcolonialism and ecotheology with the use of Salim as the philosophical underpinning for the argument that all forms of life are equal and divine As we look at the physical and spiritual suffering and degradation caused by oppression of those that we deem to be subaltern we say a resounding YES to the message of Hanul becoming together There is a poetic quality to the book which like all poetry must be read carefully and thoughtfully The reader will find that it is well worth the effort Melodie M Toby Professor of Sociology and Anthropology Kean University This book is a great introduction to eco religious becoming and a great work of comparative theology in the context of Korean religious life It will definitely introduce many readers to such concepts/terms as Donghak salim bab hanul and teum which are not only contextually relevant for Korean theology but conceptually heavy lifting in terms of postcolonial eco theology Such a post colonial hybrid ecotheology calls out for what the author describes as an ecocracy in place of the andro anthropocentric notion of democracy and globalization as usual Whitney A Bauman author of Theology Creation and Environmental Ethics From Creatio ex Nihilo to Terra Nullius Ecospirit Laurel Kearns, Catherine Keller, 2009-08-25 We hope even as we doubt that the environmental crisis can be controlled Public awareness of our species self destructiveness as material beings in a material world is growing but so is the destructiveness The practical interventions needed for saving and restoring the earth will require a collective shift of such magnitude as to take on a spiritual and religious intensity This transformation has in part already begun Traditions of ecological theology and ecologically aware religious practice have been preparing the way for decades Yet these traditions still remain marginal to society academy and church With a fresh transdisciplinary approach Ecospirit probes the possibility of a green shift radical enough to permeate the ancient roots of our sensibility and the social sources of our practice From new language for imagining the earth as a living ground to current constructions of nature in theology science and philosophy from environmentalism s questioning of postmodern thought to a garden of green doctrines rituals and liturgies for contemporary religion these original essays explore and expand our sense of how to proceed in the face of an ecological crisis that demands new thinking and acting In the midst of planetary crisis they activate imagination humor ritual and hope Creatio Ex Nihilo Gerhard May, 2004-07-09 A unique study challenging the assumption that the doctrine of creation out of nothing was inherited by Christianity along with the Jewish scriptures which the Church adopted Theologies of Creation Thomas Jay Oord, 2014-10-02 Humans have long wondered about the origin of the universe And such questions are especially alive today as physicists offer metaphysical theories to account for the emergence of creation Theists have attributed the universe s origin to divine activity and many have said God created something from absolute nothingness The venerable doctrine of creatio ex nihilo especially emphasizes God s initial creating activity Some contributors to this book explore new reasons creatio ex nihilo should continue to be embraced today But other contributors question the viability of creation from nothing and offer alternative initial creation options in its place These new alternatives explore a variety of options in light of recent scientific work new biblical scholarship and both new and old theological traditions This Is My Father's World Gale Heide, 2008-04-01 This Is My Father s World critically engages contemporary environmental ethics and provides Christians with a theological foundation for appropriately relating to the world they call God s creation a creation ethic It is refreshingly and thoroughly scriptural However what the Bible says may shock people with conservative or liberal presuppositions already in mind This book is a challenge to both sides of the debate Creation Out of Nothing Paul Copan, William Lane Craig, 2004-06 Addresses the biblical philosophical and scientific bases for the doctrine of creation out of nothing while countering contemporary trends that are assailing this doctrine Is It Too Late? John B. Cobb, 2021 In the fifty years since its initial publication Is It Too Late has proven its prescience in ways both significant and dire As the first book length philosophical and theological analysis of the environmental crisis this work introduced a generation to the key elements of crisis while suggesting ways that religion can be a force for hope rather than an instrument of despair Covering an ambitious range of issues from deforestation to abortion from religious views of the natural world to the need for technological innovation to avoid nature's destruction John Cobb moves deftly from philosophical to theological to scientific learning and integrates these interdisciplinary insights into a compelling vision for what he calls a new Christianity Comprehensive in scope non technical in expression and concise in length Is It Too Late provides the scholar and the student alike with a readable and compelling orientation to the philosophical and theological stakes of ecology This Fortress edition includes a new preface in which Cobb reflects on the current situation the specific promises and perils we now face and how his own thinking on matters theological and ecological has evolved in the last half century

Covenant for a New Creation Carol S. Robb, Carl Casebolt, 1991 Diversity and Dominion Kyle Schuyler Van Houtan, Michael S. Northcott, 2010 Description This book records a set of dialogues between scientists theologians and philosophers on what can be done to prevent a global slide into ecological collapse It is a uniquely multidisciplinary book that exemplifies the kinds of cultural and scholarly dialogue urgently needed to address the threat to the earth represented by our super industrial civilization The authors debate the conventional account of nature conservation as protection from human activity In contrast to standard accounts they argue what is needed is a new relationship between human beings and the earth that recovers a primal respect for all things This approach seeks to recover forgotten resources in ancient cultures and in the foundational narratives of Western civilization contained in the Bible and in the culture of classical Greece

Endorsements A refreshing critique of both evangelical and liberal North American environmental discourse a bold exercise in multi disciplinary conversation and a welcome retrieval of the virtues of creaturely humility and gratitude Ernst M Conradie University of the Western Cape South Africa This wonderfully rich book is a model of deep conversation on crucial challenges we face The most important issues are intrinsically interdisciplinary yet we often settle for talking at or to one another This is especially true among the environmental and religious communities The conversations in this book show that deep interdisciplinary engagements offer opportunities to re frame the questions and re describe the challenges in more promising and life giving ways transforming participants and the issues alike A terrific achievement L Gregory Jones Duke University Underlying the environmental movement are a set of mostly undiscussed ethical and theological assumptions about the nature of the world and our relationship to it In this pioneering volume scholars from various perspectives engage in a deep exploration of the relationship of ecology theology and ethics The results are often illuminating sometimes surprising and uniformly worth engaging Paul Root Wolpe Emory University Van Houtan and Northcott engage scientists ethicists theologians and other thinking persons in dialogue working to re ligate the torn academic and social fabric and bringing all to see and respond to the biosphere the awesome creation that calls for our guardianship and respectful service They have us join this dialogue motivating us gardeners all toward nurturing the kind of wisdom and humility that brings good news to every creature Calvin DeWitt University of Wisconsin About the Contributor s Kyle S Van Houtan is a Post Doctoral Fellow in the Program in Science and Society and a Research Fellow in the Center for Ethics at Emory University He has served as a biologist with the Smithsonian Institution and the U S Geological Service Michael S Northcott is Professor of Ethics in the School of Divinity in the University of Edinburgh Scotland He is the author of The Environment and Christian Ethics 1996 Religion and Ecology Whitney Bauman,2014 Whitney A Bauman calls attention to the historical political and ecological influences shaping our understanding of nature religion humanity and identity He collapses the boundaries separating male from female biology from machine human from more than human and religion from science and he encourages readers to embrace hybridity and the inherent fluctuations of an open evolving global community As he outlines his planetary ethic Bauman concurrently develops an environmental ethic of movement that relies on the daily connections we make across the planet He shows how both identity politics and environmental ethics fail to realize planetary politics and action Redeeming Creation Fred Van Dyke,1993-06-01 Createdness and Ethics Hans Schaeffer,J. H. F. Schaeffer,2006 This book contains a systematic description of the theologies of Colin E Gunton 1941 2003 and Oswald Bayer b 1939 Their use of the doctrine of creation in systematic theology has remarkable consequences for late modern theological ethics This book explores those consequences from the example of the theological doctrine of marriage The author also contributes to the ecumenical debate by building on the Neo Calvinist theological heritage Priests of Creation John Chryssavgis,Nikolaos Asproulis,2021-05-20 Based on a constructive reading of Scripture the apostolic and patristic traditions and deeply rooted in the sacramental experience and spiritual ethos of the Orthodox Church John Zizioulas offers a timely anthropological and cosmological perspective of human beings as priests of creation in addressing the current ecological crisis Given the critical and urgent character of the global crisis and by adopting a clear line of argumentation Zizioulas describes a vision based on a compassionate and incarnational conception of the human beings as liturgical beings offering creation to God for the life of the world He encourages the need for deeper interaction with modern science from which theology stands to gain an appreciation of the interconnection of every aspect of materiality and life with humankind The result is an articulate and promising vision that inspires a new ethos or way of life to overcome our alienation from the rest of creation

The Top Books of the Year Theology Creation And Environmental Ethics From Creatio Ex Nihilo To Terra Nullius The year 2023 has witnessed a noteworthy surge in literary brilliance, with numerous compelling novels enthralling the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of top-selling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have enthralled audiences this year. Theology Creation And Environmental Ethics From Creatio Ex Nihilo To Terra Nullius : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This heartfelt tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover masterfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. Uncover the Best : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This intriguing historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids compelling storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Theology Creation And Environmental Ethics From Creatio Ex Nihilo To Terra Nullius : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens spins a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and thrilling novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
