Topics For 5 Minute Research Speech:

Digital Communication and Learning Anna Wing Bo Tso, Alex Chi-keung Chan, Wendy Wing Lam Chan, Peter Edward Sidorko, Will W. K. Ma, 2022-04-12 This edited book collects papers with perspectives from scholars and practitioners in Asia Australia and Europe to reveal the pros and cons chances and challenges constraints and potential risks that educators and learners are facing as the new paradigm for communication and learning takes place with a view to shedding light on the global education climate in the midst of the pandemic Since the onset of the global pandemic education has been revolutionized in almost every aspect The emergency precautionary measures which were once supposed to be temporary school arrangements only have now become the new normal reshaping our understanding of learning environments redefining the pedagogic standards in terms of teaching practices learning designs teacher student interaction feedback and assessment Online teaching distanced learning flipped classrooms and self paced e learning have all played an increasingly vital role in shaping a new education culture in various education settings affecting school management teachers students and parents alike While ICT in education alongside new media has provided ample benefits and convenience for educators and students communication and virtual lessons conducted in the socially distanced classroom appear to have brought issues such as the digital divide e mental health insufficient technical support inefficient classroom management reduced interaction between teachers and students not to mention the growing concerns over privacy and security Content Analysis of Verbal Behavior Louis A. Gottschalk, Fernando Lolas, Linda L. Viney, 2012-12-06 The psychological states of patients with diabetes mellitus were compared with those of patients suffering from other chronic diseases and people with no diagnosed chronic diseases These states were assessed by applying content analysis scales to transcripts of their descriptions of their current experiences Analyses of the diabetics scale scores revealed a pattern characterized by much anxiety depression anger expressed both directly and indirectly together with feelings of helplessness The sources of anxiety which proved to be of most importance to them were fears of death and bodily mutilation as well as guilt and shame They experienced little sense of sharing with most people around them although they showed considerable enjoyment of close relationships with family and friends This pattern of psychological states did not vary with the sex of the patients or whether they were interviewed in a hospital or at home nor with recency of onset or multiplicity of health problems It was similar to the pattern of patients with other chronic diseases but differed significantly from that of the healthy group Acknowledgment The authors wish to acknowledge the contribution of Carol Preston to the collection and analysis of these data which were made available in part by patients of the Wollongong Hospital and members of the Illawarra Branch of the Diabetic Association of New South Wales References 1 Strong JA Baird JD 1971 Diseases of the endocrine system In Davidson S McLeod J eds The principles and practice of medicine The SAGE Encyclopedia of Communication Research Methods Mike Allen, 2017-01-15 Communication research is evolving and changing in a world of online journals open access and new ways

showcases a diverse range of perspectives on how online learning has changed and grown with a focus on what library services and resources are here to stay Leadership Education and Training (LET) 1, 2001 Public Speaking Basics Michael A. Griffin, 2009 Public Speaking Basics provides a semester's worth of information and exercises to help college students master public speaking. There is an emphasis on creating good thesis sentences and on using effective forms of outlining. A sample speech is provided with each of the six different speaking assignments. BOOK JACKET Contemporary Public Speaking Courtland L. Bovée, 2003 Contemporary Public Speaking includes all the traditional fundamentals as well as the hottest issues in public speaking today. Featuring a conversational style and an extensive photo and illustration program, this comprehensive coverage provides students with the tools they need to analyze and apply public speaking principles. Examples, exercises, and boxed features offer insights into major themes such as speaking across cultures, developing creativity, improving critical thinking, overcoming speech anxiety, focusing on ethics, and learning from real-world speaking situations. Students will also explore how to speak on the job and in small groups, develop persuasive strategies, and use audio-visual aids from flip charts to multimedia presentations and will learn basic ways to become more effective speakers and listeners. Hess, University of Missouri; Cynthia Irizarry, Stetson University; Shannon McCraw, Southeastern Oklahoma State University; Timothy P. Meyer, University of Wisconsin-Green Bay; Louis J. Rosso, Winthrop University. Forum, 1987 Biased Cognitions & Social Anxiety: Building a Global Framework for Integrating Cognitive, Behavioral, and Neural Processes Alexandre Heeren, Wolf-Gero Lange, Quincy Wong, Pierre Philippot, 2015-03-05 Social anxiety (SA) is a common and incapacitating disorder that has been associated with seriously impaired career, academic, and general social functioning. Regarding epidemiological data, SA has a lifetime prevalence of 12.1% and is the fourth most common psychopathological disorder (Kessler et al., 2005). At a fundamental point of view, the most prominent cognitive models of SA posit that biased cognitions contribute to the development and maintenance of the disorder (e.g., Clark, Rapee, Heimberg, 1997). Over the last decades, a large body of research has provided evidence that individuals suffering from SA exhibit such biased cognitions at the level of visual attention, memory of social encounters, interpretation of social events, and in judgment of social cues. Such biased cognitions in SA have been studied in different ways within cognitive psychology, behavioral psychology, clinical psychology, and cognitive neuroscience. Over the last few decades, yet integrative approaches for channeling all information into a unified account of biased cognitions in SA have not been presented so far. The present Research Topic aims to bring together these different ways and to highlight findings and methods which can unify research across these areas. In particular, this Research Topic aims to advance the current theoretical models of SA and set the stage for future developments of the field by clarifying and linking theoretical concepts across disciplines. An Experimental Study of Methods for Selecting Topics for Speech Making Nancy Neher, 1958
