Watching Life Unfold A Of Nantucket Poetry:

Watching Life Unfold Beck Barsanti, 2015-05-30 With a love of nature a deep connection with Nantucket and a flair for capturing fleeting moments Beck Fee Barsanti writes with the crackle of youth and the stillness of an old soul Whether it s the fear of a new school the comfort of darkness the past as seen in the shape of an old house the joy of spring the sad shock of an imagined future Beck s breadth of topics match his variety of poetic styles Before long this off islander could swear he was smelling salt air and hearing the screech of hawk envying crows This young writer will engage all your senses and it s a great ride Peter Lerangis New York Times bestselling author of the Seven Wonders series The Open Shelf ,1929

In this magisterial study of the relationship between illness and art the best selling author of An Unquiet Mind Kay Redfield Jamison brings an entirely fresh understanding to the work and life of Robert Lowell 1917 1977 whose intense complex and personal verse left a lasting mark on the English language and changed the public discourse about private matters In his poetry Lowell put his manic depressive illness now known as bipolar disorder into the public domain and in the process created a new and arresting language for madness Here Dr Kay Redfield Jamison brings her expertise in mood disorders to bear on Lowell s story illuminating not only the relationships between mania depression and creativity but also how Lowell s illness and treatment influenced his work and often became its subject A bold sympathetic account of a poet who was both despite and because of mental illness a passionate original observer of the human condition Women and the Material

Culture of Death BethFowkes Tobin,2017-07-05 Examining the compelling and often poignant connection between women and the material culture of death this collection focuses on the objects women make the images they keep the practices they use or are responsible for and the places they inhabit and construct through ritual and custom Women s material practices ranging from wearing mourning jewelry to dressing the dead stitching memorial samplers to constructing skull boxes collecting funeral programs to collecting and studying diseased hearts making and collecting taxidermies and making sculptures honoring the death are explored in this collection as well as women s affective responses and sentimental labor that mark their expected and unexpected participation in the social practices surrounding death and the dead The largely invisible work involved in commemorating and constructing narratives and memorials about the dead from family members and friends to national figures calls attention to the role women as memory keepers for families local communities and the nation Women have tended to work collaboratively making collecting and sharing objects that conveyed sentiments about the deceased whether human or animal as well as the identity of mourners Death is about loss and many of the mourning practices that women have traditionally and are currently engaged in are about dealing with private grief and public loss as well as working to mitigate the more general anxiety that death engenders about the impermanence of life
