Craig Christy, 1983-01-01 This study examines specific implications of the considerable overlap in methodology and theory of 19th century geology and philology Recognition of this overlap is indispensable to a complete understanding of philology's development into the more empirical science of linguistics especially as this empiricism culminates in the neogrammarian doctrine of exceptionless sound laws The study consists of three major parts I Uniformitarianism in the Palaetiological Sciences i.e. geology and other natural sciences studying life in earlier periods of the earth II The Rise of Uniformitarianism in Linguistics and III The Uniformitarian Basis of Neogrammarian Linguistics Catalogue of the James Blackstone Memorial Library, Branford, Conn James Blackstone Memorial Library (Branford, Conn.), 1897 The National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints, 1968

key role in shaping emergent ideas about popular sovereignty While Victorian scientists studied the origins of speech the history of dialects and the barrier between human and animal language poets such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning Alfred Tennyson and Thomas Hardy drew on this research to explore social unrest the expansion of the electorate and the ever widening boundaries of empire Science Language and Reform in Victorian Poetry recovers unacknowledged links between poetry philology and political culture and contributes to recent movements in literary studies that combine historicist and formalist approaches
