Closed Self-Paced Motor Tasks in Sports Ronnie Lidor, Gal Ziv, 2022-06-01 In practice settings competitions and games athletes are often required to perform an arsenal of motor tasks in dynamic and challenged sporting environments where they have to respond without having enough time to prepare themselves for the act. However in many sport activities athletes also perform closed self paced motor tasks tasks that take place in a relatively stable and predictable environment where there is adequate time to prepare for their execution. Among these tasks are free throw shots in basketball putting in golf serving in tennis and bowling. In these tasks performers are able to plan their actions in advance. They can activate a plan a strategy a protocol or a procedure what we term a ritual behavior. Effective rituals are usually achieved with a high degree of consistency. That is either deliberately or subconsciously they become an integral part of the act itself. The Psychology of Closed Self Paced Motor Tasks in Sports explores those plans procedures protocols strategies and techniques that aim at facilitating the performance and learning of closed self paced motor tasks. Included in the instructional psychological routines discussed in this book are pre performance routines focusing attention motor imagery enhanced expectancies autonomy support gaze strategies self talk and periodization. The routines discussed in the book are evidence based. Based on updated reviews of laboratory and field inquiries on the discussed instructional psychological routines practical implications are given for those professionals who teach closed self paced motor tasks including coaches instructors and sport psychology consultants.

The Routledge Handbook of Coach Development in Sport Steven B. Rynne, Clifford J.

Mallett, 2024-05-24 The Routledge Handbook of Coach Development in Sport is a comprehensive text that underscores the importance of learning and context for those who sculpt the environment in which people of all ages develop in and through sport. Coaches and those responsible for the development of coaches are best positioned as both learners and facilitators of learning. As sport becomes more globalised the concomitant professionalisation of coaches necessitates ongoing learning and development to embrace new knowledge and understanding. Moreover contemporary coach development presents as a wicked problem in that it continues to evolve it is contextually bound and there is no single or obvious way to approach it. Problematically there is often limited assistance available to support coaches and coach developers in their ongoing development. As such this book provides a truly international reference point that brings together leading scholars and practitioners from across the globe to provide an overview of the theories and practices of coaches and coach developers that are impacting the quality of sporting environments. Therefore this book is an important reference for researchers scholars and practitioners alike in the fields of Sport Coaching Coach Development Sport Development Sport for Development Physical Education and related disciplines.
