Traditional Chinese Philosophy And The Paradigm Of Structure Li:

Traditional Chinese Philosophy and the Paradigm of Structure (Li [Chinese Character]) Jana Rošker, 2012 Traditional Chinese Philosophy and the Paradigm of Structure (Li [Chinese Character]) Jana S. Rošker, 2013-01-04

Specific Chinese models for theories of knowledge were premised upon a structurally ordered external reality since natural or cosmic order is organic it naturally follows the flow of structural patterns and operates in accordance with structural principles that regulate every existence In this worldview our mind is also structured in accordance with this all embracing but open organic system The axioms of our recognition and thought are therefore not arbitrary but follow this rationally designed structure The compatibility of both the cosmic and mental structures is the basic precondition that enables humans to perceive and recognize external reality The present study shows that this paradigm of structural epistemology can already be found in the earliest Chinese theories of knowledge The introduction of Chinese models and their incorporation into Western discourses fills an important theoretical gap in the Western model of structuralism This book offers an insight into epistemological systems that arose outside the discourses of the Euro American tradition It can thus help us to eliminate and supersede certain culturally conditioned prejudices as to the superiority and omnipresence of Western theoretical models while demonstrating incontrovertibly that the results of Western discourses are by no means the only force driving theoretical innovation at the present time

Li Zehou and Confucian Philosophy Roger T. Ames, Jinhua Jia, 2018-07-31

For more than a century scholars both inside and outside of China have undertaken the project of modernizing Confucianism but few have been as successful or influential as Li Zehou b 1930 Since the 1950s Li s extensive efforts in this regard have in turn exerted a profound influence on Chinese modernization and resulted in his becoming one of China s most prominent social critics To transform Confucianism into a contemporary resource for positive change in China and elsewhere Li has reinterpreted major ideas and concepts of classical Confucianism including a rereading of the entire Analects replete with his own philosophical speculations derived from other Chinese and Western traditions most notably the ideas of Kant and Marx and developed an aesthetical theory that has proved especially far reaching Although the authors of this volume hail from East Asia North America and Europe and a wide variety of academic backgrounds and fields of study they are unanimous in their appreciation of Li s contributions to not only an evolving Confucian philosophy but also world philosophy They view Li first and foremost as a sui generis thinker with broad global interests and not one who fits neatly into any one philosophical category Chinese or Western This is clearly reflected in the chapters included here which are organized into three parts Li Zehou and the Modernization of Confucianism Li Zehou s Reconception of Confucian Philosophy and Li Zehou s Aesthetical Theory and Confucianism Together they form a coherent narrative that reveals how Li has for more than half a century creatively studied absorbed and reconceptualized the Confucian ideational tradition to integrate it with Western philosophical elements and develop his own philosophical insights and original theories At the same time he has transformed and modernized

Confucianism for the purpose of both coalescing with and reconstructing a new world cultural order Xiong Shili's Understanding of Reality and Function, 1920-1937 Yu Sang, 2020-06-08 Xiong Shili 1885-1968 was one of the most important Chinese philosophers of the twentieth century and a founding figure of the modern New Confucian school of philosophy At the core of his metaphysics is one of the key conceptual polarities in traditional Chinese philosophy Reality ti and Function yong Xiong Shili's Understanding of Reality and Function 1920-1937 presents a detailed examination and analysis of the development of Xiong Shili's conception of Reality and Function between 1920 and 1937 While scholars have tended to focus on Xiong's mature ti yong philosophical system which was initially established in the early 1930s this study explains how that system was gradually formed providing a more comprehensive basis for understanding the development of Xiong's philosophical thought in later periods Chinese Philosophy in Transcultural Contexts Jana S. Rošker, 2024-12-12 Jana S. Rošker presents a novel dialectical method to our comprehension of diverse philosophical ideas Analyzing philosophical discourses that have emerged in China and the Sinophone region Rošker applies the method to examples from across the history of thought From Ancient Chinese logicians to 20th century intellectuals she connects thinkers and offers fresh insights into key aspects of philosophy The result is a series of vibrant dialogues among different intellectual traditions providing new understandings of transcultural philosophical interactions Dao Companion to Xuanxue 道 (Neo-Daoism) David Chai, 2020-09-29 This comprehensive volume surveys an important but neglected period of Chinese intellectual history Xuanxue Neo-Daoism It provides a holistic approach to the philosophical and religious traits of this movement via the concepts of non-being being and oneness Thinkers and texts on the periphery of Xuanxue are also examined to show readers that Xuanxue did not arise in a vacuum but is the result of a long and continuous evolution of ideas from pre-Qin Daoism The 25 chapters of this work survey the major philosophical figures and arguments of Xuanxue a movement from the Wei-Jin dynastic period 220-420 CE of early medieval China It also examines texts and figures from the late Han dynasty whose influence on Xuanxue has yet to be made explicitly clear In order to fully capture the multifaceted nature of this movement the contributors brilliantly highlight its more socially oriented characteristics Overall this volume presents an unrivaled picture of this exciting period It details a portrait of intellectual and cultural vitality that rivals if not surpasses what was achieved during the Warring States period Readers of the Yijing Daodejing and Zhuangzi will feel right at home with the themes and arguments presented herein while students and those coming to Xuanxue for the first time will acquire a wealth of knowledge Following His Own Path Jana S. Rošker, 2019-01-01 In this book Jana S. Rošker offers the first comprehensive overview and exegesis of the work of Li Zehou who is one of the most significant and influential Chinese philosophers of our time Rošker shows us how Li's complex system of thought seeks to revive various Chinese traditions and at the same time attempts to harmonize or reconcile this cultural heritage with the demands of the dominant economic political and axiological structures of our globalized world Various characterized as neo-traditional neo-Kantian post

Marxist Marxist Confucian pragmatist instrumentalist romantic and more Li's work was central to the period known as the Chinese Enlightenment in the 1980s and has helped modify and transform antiquated patterns of Chinese intellectual discourse. He is one of the rare Chinese thinkers whose work has not only had a deep and lasting impact on Chinese intellectuals but has acquired a broad readership outside of China as well. Seen from a broader intercultural perspective, Li's unique and imaginative approach to a wide range of basic theoretical problems has created new styles of intellectual investigation while reminding us of our belonging to a common humanity regardless of differences in our individual cultures, languages, preferences, and traditions.

Maximus the Confessor as a European Philosopher Sotiris Mitralaxis, Georgios Steiris, Marcin Podbielski, Sebastian Lalla, 2017-09-18. The study of Maximus the Confessor's thought has flourished in recent years: international conferences, publications, and articles; new critical editions and translations mark a torrent of interest in the work and influence of perhaps the most sublime of the Byzantine Church Fathers. It has been repeatedly stated that the Confessor's thought is of eminently philosophical interest. However, no dedicated collective scholarly engagement with Maximus the Confessor as a philosopher has taken place, and this volume attempts to start such a discussion. Apart from Maximus' relevance and importance for philosophy in general, a second question arises: should towering figures of Byzantine philosophy like Maximus the Confessor be included in an overview of the European history of philosophy or rather excluded from it as is the case today with most histories of European philosophy? Maximus' philosophy challenges our understanding of what European philosophy is. In this volume, we begin to address these issues and examine numerous aspects of Maximus' philosophy, thereby also stressing the interdisciplinary character of Maximian studies. Contributors include Fr. Maximos Constas, Justin Shaun Coyle, Vladimir Cvetkovi, Natalie Depraz, Demetrios Harper, Michael Harrington, Georgi Kapriev, Karolina Kocha, czyk Boni, ska, Nicholas Loudovikos, Andrew Louth, John Panteleimon Manoussakis, Michail Mantzanas, Smilen Markov, Sotiris Mitralaxis, Marcin Podbielski, Dionysios Skliris, Georgios Steiris, Stoyan Tanev, Torstein Theodor Tollefsen, Jordan Daniel Wood.

Dao Companion to ZHU XI's Philosophy Kai-chiu Ng, Yong Huang, 2020-03-04. Zhu Xi (1130-1200) has been commonly and justifiably recognized as the most influential philosopher of Neo-Confucianism, a revival of classical Confucianism in face of the challenges coming from Daoism and more importantly Buddhism. His place in the Confucian tradition is often and also very plausibly compared to that of Thomas Aquinas slightly later in the Christian tradition. This book presents the most comprehensive and updated study of this great philosopher. It situates Zhu Xi's philosophy in the historical context of not only Confucian philosophy but also Chinese philosophy as a whole. Topics covered within Zhu Xi's thought are metaphysics, epistemology, ethics, political philosophy, hermeneutics, philosophy of religion, moral psychology, and moral education. This text shows both how Zhu Xi responded to earlier thinkers and how his thoughts resonate in contemporary philosophy, particularly in the analytic tradition. This companion will appeal to students, researchers, and educators in the field.

The Senses and the History of Philosophy Brian Glenney, José Silva, 2019-02-21. The study of perception and the role of the senses have recently risen to prominence in philosophy and are now a major area of study and research. However, the philosophical history of the senses remains a relatively neglected subject. Moving beyond the current philosophical canon, this outstanding collection offers a wide-ranging and diverse philosophical exploration of the senses from the classical period to the present day. Written by a team of international contributors, it is divided into six parts: Perception from Non-Western Perspectives, Perception in the Ancient Period, Perception in the Medieval Latin/Arabic Period, Perception in the Early Modern Period, Perception in the Post-Kantian Period, and Perception in the Contemporary Period. The volume challenges conventional philosophical study of perception by covering a wide range of significant as well as hitherto overlooked topics such as perceptual judgment, temporal and motion illusions, mirror and picture perception, animal senses, and cross-modal integration. By investigating the history of the senses in thinkers such as Plotinus, Aristotle, Berkeley, and Cavendish, and considering the history of the senses in diverse philosophical traditions including Chinese, Indian, Byzantine, Greek, and Latin, it brings a fresh approach to studying the history of philosophy itself. Including a thorough introduction as well as introductions to each section by the editors, The Senses and the History of Philosophy is essential reading for students and researchers in the history of philosophy, perception, philosophy of mind, philosophical psychology, aesthetics, and eastern and non-western philosophy. It will also be extremely useful for those in related disciplines such as psychology, religion, sociology, intellectual history, and cognitive sciences.

Dao Companion to Contemporary Confucian Philosophy David Elstein, 2020-12-17. This edited volume presents a comprehensive examination of contemporary Confucian philosophy from its roots in the late 19th century to the present day. It provides a thorough introduction to the major philosophers and topics in contemporary Confucian philosophy. The individual chapters study the central figures in 20th-century Confucian philosophy in China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong, as well as the important influences on recent Confucian philosophy. In addition, topical chapters focus on contemporary Confucian theory of knowledge, ethics, politics, aesthetics, and views of human nature. The volume brings together scholars from around the world to provide a sound overview of the philosophy of the period and illustrate the important current debates. Confucian philosophy has been undergoing a revival in China for more than three decades, and this book presents the most significant work of the past century and more. By giving a detailed account of the philosophical positions involved, explaining the terminology of contemporary Confucian philosophy, and situating the views in their historical context, this volume enables the reader to understand what is at stake and evaluate the arguments.

Transcendence and Non-Naturalism in Early Chinese Thought Alexis McLeod, Joshua R. Brown, 2020-09-03. Contemporary scholars of Chinese philosophy often presuppose that early China possessed a naturalistic worldview devoid of any non-natural concepts such as transcendence. Challenging this presupposition, Joshua R. Brown and Alexis McLeod argue that non-naturalism and transcendence have a robust and significant place in early Chinese thought. This book reveals that non-naturalist positions can be found in early Chinese texts in topics including conceptions of the divine, cosmogony, and apophatic philosophy Moreover by closely examining a range of early Chinese texts and providing comparative readings of a number of Western texts and thinkers the book offers a way of reading early Chinese Philosophy as consistent with the religious philosophy of the East and West including the Abrahamic and the Brahmanistic religions Co written by a philosopher and theologian this book draws out unique insights into early Chinese thought highlighting in particular new ways to consider a range of Chinese concepts including tian dao li and you wu

Interpreting Chinese Philosophy Jana S. Rošker, 2021-05-06 Understanding Chinese philosophy requires knowledge of the referential framework prevailing in Chinese intellectual traditions But Chinese philosophical texts are frequently approached through the lens of Western paradigms Analysing the most common misconceptions surrounding Western Sinology Jana Ro ker alerts us to unseen dangers and introduces us to a new more effective way of reading Chinese philosophy Acknowledging that different cultures produce different reference points Ro ker explains what happens when we use rational analysis a major feature of the European intellectual tradition to read Chinese philosophy We rely on impossible comparisons arrive at prejudiced assumptions and fail to arrive at the truth the consequence of applying a different methodology to the process of perceiving understanding and interpreting reality Instead of transferring concepts and categories from Western sinology onto socio cultural Chinese contexts Ro ker constructs a new methodology of reading understanding and interpreting Chinese philosophy She opens our eyes to the basic problems of Western paradigms encourages intercultural approaches and allows us to master a more autochthonous understanding of Chinese philosophy guide exploration of the intersection between traditional scholarship and cutting edge philosophical or scientific research In this way the book contributes to development of a suitably revised comprehensive understanding of rationality one that befits the 21st century one that is adequately informed by recent investigations of science pathology non human thought emotion and even enigmatic Chinese texts that might previously have seemed to be expressions of irrationalism Addresses recent challenges and Identifies a direction for future research on rationality Investigates the relationship between rationality and mental disorders such as delusion and depression Assesses reasoning in artificial intelligence and nonhuman animals Reflects on ancient Chinese Philosophy and possible cultural differences in human psychology Employs philosophical reflection along with linguistic probabilistic and logical techniques

The Rebirth of the Moral Self Jana S Ro?ker,2016-03-01 The Confucian revival which manifests itself in the Modern Confucian current belongs to the most important streams of thought in contemporary Chinese philosophy The Rebirth of the Moral Self introduces this stream of thought by focusing on the second generation Modern Confucians Mou Zongsan Tang Junyi Xu Fuguan and Fang Dongmei These scholars argue that traditional Confucianism as a specifically Chinese social political and moral system of thought can if adapted to the modern era serve as the foundation for an ethically meaningful modern life Learning of the Way (Daoxue): John E. Young, PhD,2016-05-18 Over two thousand years ago the Chinese sage Confucius proposed that learning and putting persistent learning into practice is a great joy or pleasure In Learning of the Way Daoxue Dr John E Young presents from a Confucian perspective the rationale for engaging in traditional Chinese arts and practices Dr Young relies on his experience as a Chinese martial arts expert and professor emeritus to share the results of his comprehensive examination of the concept of Confucian learning that explores self cultivation introduces the era of Neo Confucianism investigates the practices of jing and gewu examines the Zhu Xi approach applies Confucian and Neo Confucian concepts specifically to the art and practice of wushu and scrutinizes the traditional aspects of wushu as understood and practiced by Chinese grandmasters Included is a description of the state of enlightenment that suggests this level of consciousness guantong is identical to integral consciousness and is urgently needed in today s increasingly complex interconnected environments Learning of the Way Daoxue is a comprehensive guidebook that examines and teaches Westerners about traditional Chinese arts and practices Brain, Decision Making and Mental Health Nima Rezaei,2023-01-01 Brain Decision Making and Mental Health acknowledges that thinking is not a constant phenomenon but varies considerably across cultures Critical thinking is particularly important in bridging thinking divisions and its applicability across sciences particularly medical sciences We see critical thinking as educable and the arts as means to achieve this purpose We address the multidimensional relationship between thinking and health and related mechanisms Thinking mainly affects emotion regulation and executive function in other words both mental and physical health are related as a function of thoughts Considering the thinking feeling emotion regulation executive function pathway it would be reasonable to propose thinking capacities based interventions to impact emotion regulation and executive function such as mindfulness and psychotherapy We review decision making taking place in integrated and social contexts and discuss the decision making styles decision outcomes relation Finally artificial thinking and intelligence prepare us for decision making outside the human mind Paradigm Shifts in Chinese Studies Shiping Hua,2022-02-06 This book is a study of the change and continuity in paradigms in China studies both inside and outside of China In the last few years the United States and China appeared to be moving in the direction of de coupling indicating that the engagement policy with China in the last four decade is ending The modernization theory that is the theoretical foundation of the engagement policy has proved to be insufficient This situation calls for a reexamination of the field of China studies Historically scholarly paradigms shifts often went hand in hand with drastic social change As we have entered an era of great uncertainty it is constructive to reflect on the paradigms in China studies in the past and explore the possibility of new paradigms in the future How are the shifts of major theories methods and paradigms in China studies in the west related to social change How did some of China s paradigms impact on the country s social change and developments This book will appeal to a wide readership including scholars and graduate students upper division undergraduate students of China studies Asian studies Becoming Human Jana Rošker,2020-01-20 The book Becoming Human Li Zehou s Ethics offers a critical introduction and in depth analysis of Li Zehou s moral philosophy and ethics Li Zehou who is one of the most influential contemporary Chinese philosophers believes that ethics is the most important philosophical discipline He aims to revive modernize develop and complement Chinese traditional ethics through what he calls transformative creation He takes Chinese ethics which represents the main pillar of Chinese philosophy as a vital basis for his elaborations on certain aspects of Kant s Marx s and other Western theoreticians thoughts on ethics and hopes to contribute in this way to the development of a new global ethics for all of humankind
