Treating Violence Treating Violence:

Treating Violence Rob Gore, 2024-05-07 The inspiring story of a Black doctor who was deeply affected by the violence that plagued his Brooklyn childhood and later dedicated himself to addressing trauma and violence as public health issues Rob Gore first encountered violence when he was beaten and robbed as a 10 year old it was treated as an inevitable fact of life but after another brush with violence as a teen he began to reject that prevalent attitude As he matured and became a doctor he grew in his determination to find treatments for what he saw not as an unavoidable fact for most people living in vulnerable underserved neighborhoods especially but as a public health issue that could be addressed by early intervention and solid support beginning in the medical community He also became deeply involved in efforts to diversify the entire field of medicine starting with the front lines in the Emergency Department Seeing his brother Angel and close friend Willis fall prey to the epidemic of violence with profound and in Willis s case deadly consequences Rob began seriously researching the issue and went on to found an organization which is one of the models for successful approaches to reducing violence and protecting victims who are disproportionately BIPOC living in impoverished neighborhoods or members of the LGBTQ community Here he provides not only statistics but stories of what he witnessed in NYC neighborhoods in Atlanta Chicago Buffalo and even in medical work in Haiti and Kenya His work with the Kings Against Violence Initiative KAVI and allied organizations is a blueprint for treating violence not as a police matter but as a public health crisis which can and should be addressed and substantially reduced The people he introduces us to in these pages are not merely victims but often advocates paving the way for eliminating the epidemic of violence in our country Evaluating Cure Violence in Trinidad and Tobago Edward R. Maguire, Megan T. Oakley, Nicholas Corsaro, 2018-11-20 This report presents a comprehensive evaluation of the Cure Violence initiative implemented in Trinidad and Tobago from July 2015 to August 2017 It describes the evaluation s methods and findings and includes three main components a process evaluation impact evaluation and cost effectiveness analysis The process evaluation revealed that local staff successfully implemented some of the key elements of the Cure Violence model in a number of distressed and violent communities in the Port of Spain area The impact evaluation based on a series of quasi experimental designs using multiple independent data sets found significant and substantial reductions in violence calls to the police for violent incidents and gunshot wound admissions in a hospital located near the intervention Based on these analyses the report concludes that Project REASON reduced violence in the treatment area Findings from the cost effectiveness evaluation showed that Cure Violence cost on average approximately US 3 500 to US 4 500 for every violent incident it prevented Given the profound costs of violence in both human and economic terms these estimates provide hope not only that violence can be prevented but also that effective solutions for preventing violence may be affordable Gender-Inclusive Treatment of Intimate Partner Abuse, Second Edition John Hamel, 2013-11-08 Print violence mental health and risk prediction the ethics of violence risk assessment homicide inquiries in the UK with the results of a new study reviewing their findings a discussion of professional attitudes towards violence risk a description of risk assessment tools and recommendations for their use and a strong defence of structured clinical assessment as the best way of managing risk This is a book that should be read by anybody working in front line mental health services or criminal justice It will also be of interest to those who have read the headlines about mental illness and violence and want to know more about the facts and the controversies that lie behind them Envisioning Criminology Michael D.
