We were a world of two my mother and I until I started turning into an American girl That s when she began telling me about The Good Daughter It became a taunt a warning an omen Jasmin Darznik came to America from Iran when she was only three years old and she grew up knowing very little about her family s history When she was in her early twenties on a day shortly following her father s death Jasmin was helping her mother move a photograph fell from a stack of old letters The girl pictured was her mother She was wearing a wedding veil and at her side stood a man whom Jasmin had never seen before At first Jasmin s mother Lili refused to speak about the photograph and Jasmin returned to her own home frustrated and confused But a few months later she received from her mother the first of ten cassette tapes that would bring to light the wrenching hidden story of her family s true origins in Iran Lili s marriage at thirteen her troubled history of abuse and neglect and a daughter she was forced to abandon in order to escape that life The final tape revealed that Jasmin s sister Sara The Good Daughter was still living in Iran In this sweeping poignant and beautifully written memoir Jasmin weaves the stories of three generations of Iranian women into a unique tale of one family s struggle for freedom and understanding The result is an enchanting and unforgettable story of secrets betrayal and the unbreakable mother daughter bond      Journey from the Land of No Ru'yā Ḥakkākiyān, 2004 An Iranian American poet recounts her life as a daughter of Jewish parents growing up in Tehran during which she witnessed the impact of the Ayatollah Khomeyni s return to the nation and contemplated political asylum 40 000 first printing      Not Without Daug-Cn Hoffer, William, Mahmoody, Betty, 1987
