

TRAUMA-INFORMED CARE:

What does it look like?

@therecoverycenterusa

Language and Communication

Helpers use non-judgmental and empathetic language. They avoid making assumptions about an individual's past experiences. For instance, instead of asking, "What's wrong with you?" they might ask, "What happened to you?"

Providing Choices

In healthcare settings, offering choices to patients can be empowering. For example, allowing a patient to choose their meal preferences or the time of their therapy sessions gives them a sense of control.

Sensory-Friendly Environments

Recognizing that sensory sensitivities can be triggered by trauma, trauma-informed care might involve providing calming sensory rooms or ensuring that lighting and noise levels are adjustable to individual preferences.

Active Listening

Helpers actively listen to individuals without interrupting or rushing through appointments. They validate their feelings and experiences.

Training and Self-Care

Healthcare staff are trained in trauma-informed care principles and are encouraged to practice self-care to prevent burnout. This ensures that they can provide the best possible care to their patients.

De-escalation Techniques

In situations where patients may become agitated or distressed, trauma-informed care involves de-escalation techniques that prioritize safety and minimize re-traumatization.

Trauma At Home Trauma At Home:

Trauma at Home Judith Greenberg, 2003-01-01 A collection of essays edited by the novelist and short story writer takes on the questions of trauma and loss in works by Elizabeth Baer Jill Bennett Peter Brooks Toni Morrison Geoffrey Hartmann Claire Kahane James Berger and others Original Social Science Race, Trauma, and Home in the Novels of Toni Morrison Evelyn Jaffe Schreiber, 2010-12 In this first interdisciplinary study of all nine of Nobel Laureate Toni Morrison's novels Evelyn Jaffe Schreiber investigates how the communal and personal trauma of slavery embedded in the bodies and minds of its victims lives on through successive generations of African Americans Approaching trauma from several cutting edge theoretical perspectives psychoanalytic neurobiological and cultural and social theories Schreiber analyzes the lasting effects of slavery as depicted in Morrison's work and considers the almost insurmountable task of recovering from trauma to gain subjectivity With an innovative application of neuroscience to literary criticism Schreiber explains how trauma whether initiated by physical abuse dehumanization discrimination exclusion or abandonment becomes embedded in both psychic and bodily circuits Slavery and its legacy of cultural rejection create trauma on individual familial and community levels and parents unwittingly transmit their trauma to their children through repetition of their bodily stored experiences Concepts of home whether a physical place community or relationship are reconstructed through memory to provide a positive self and serve as a healing space for Morrison's characters Remembering and retelling trauma within a supportive community enables trauma victims to move forward and attain a meaningful subjectivity and selfhood Through careful analysis of each novel Schreiber traces the success or failure of Morrison's characters to build or rebuild a cohesive self starting with slavery and the initial postslavery generation and continuing through the twentieth century with a special focus on the effects of inherited trauma on children When characters attempt to escape trauma through physical relocation or to project their pain onto others through aggressive behavior or scapegoating the development of selfhood falters Only when trauma is confronted through verbalization and challenged with reparative images of home can memories of a positive self overcome the pain of past experiences and cultural rejection While the cultural trauma of slavery can never truly disappear Schreiber argues that memories that reconstruct a positive self whether created by people relationships a physical place or a concept help Morrison's characters to establish subjectivity A groundbreaking interdisciplinary work Schreiber's book unites psychoanalytic neurobiological and social theories into a full and richly textured analysis of trauma and the possibility of healing in Morrison's novels Trauma-Sensitive Instruction John F. Facing Trauma in Contemporary American Literary Discourse Laura Virginia Castor, 2019-10-08 Trauma has always been part of the American collective experience but only since September 11 2001 has it been acknowledged on a widespread scale Most people will experience some form of trauma during their lifetime but in contemporary American culture it is often understood as a problem to be blamed on someone fought or repressed entirely Despite burgeoning trauma studies popular responses to trauma from the media to politics produce ever more aggression and fear This book responds to this growing awareness through literary analyses of texts by Louise Erdrich Siri Hustvedt Melanie Thernstrom Nicole Krauss Joy Harjo Linda Hogan Jhumpa Lahiri and Toni Morrison Considered separately each chapter provides a lens into a historically situated trauma and the process of renegotiating it Read together they function as voices in an ongoing conversation that affirms the power of narrative A good story can become a space for curiosity in the face of trauma and uncertainty A story opens imaginative possibilities for asking in what ways can readers bring more awareness to the benefits of seeing our planetary interdependence in the midst of global polarization The readings of novels autobiographical texts and poems here suggest how this question is among the most valuable we can ask in the early 21st century Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report ,1997-05-16 Understanding the Paradox of Surviving Childhood Trauma Joanne Zucchetto, Simone Jacobs, Ly Vick Johnson, 2019-07-08 Understanding the Paradox of Surviving Childhood Trauma offers clinicians a new framework for understanding the symptoms and coping mechanisms displayed by survivors of childhood abuse This approach considers how characteristics such as suicidality self harm persistent depression and anxiety can have roots in behaviors and beliefs that helped patients survive their trauma This book provides practitioners with case examples practical tips and techniques for applying this mindset directly to their most complex cases By depathologizing patients experiences and behaviors and moving beyond simply managing them therapists can reduce their clients shame and work collaboratively to understand the underlying message that these behaviors conceal

Trauma Transmission and Sexual Violence Nena Močnik, 2020-08-11 This book grapples with the potential impacts of collective trauma in war rape survivors families Drawing on inter ethnic and inter generational participatory action research on reconciliation processes in post conflict Bosnia Herzegovina the author examines the risk that female survivors of war related sexual crimes now mothers will breed hatred and further division in the post conflict context Showing how the historical trauma of sexual abuse among survivors affects the ideas perceptions behavioural patterns and understandings of the ethnic and religious Other or perpetrator the book also considers the influence of such trauma on other attitudes rarely addressed in peacebuilding programmes such as notions of naturalised gender based violence cultural scripts of sexuality and support for dangerous or violent aspects of the patriarchal social order It thus seeks to sketch proposals for a curriculum of peacebuilding that takes account of the legacy of war rape in survivors families and the impact of trauma transmission As such Trauma Transmission and Sexual Violence will appeal to scholars of politics sociology and gender studies with interests in peace and reconciliation processes and war related sexual violence Transforming Historical Trauma through Dialogue David S. Derezotes, 2013-04-11 Transforming Historical Trauma by David S Derezotes helps readers understand the causes and treatment of historical trauma at an individual group and community level and demonstrates how a participatory strengths based approach can work effectively in its treatment The first to offer a combination of theory literature review and practice knowledge on dialogue this book begins with a definition of historical trauma and transformation includes the dialogue necessary to aid in transformation such as self care self awareness and professional self development The author proposes six key models of dialogue practice psychodynamic cognitive behavioral experiential transpersonal biological and ecological and shows how these models can be used to help transform sociohistorical trauma in clients He then applies these six dialogue models to five common practice settings including work with community divides social justice work peace and conflict work dialogues with populations across the lifespan and community therapy
