Transatlantic Merger Cases United States European Community Merger Review Co Operation:

Transatlantic Merger Cases Charles Smitherman, 2007 Despite the introduction of the U S EC merger review co operation initiative in the early nineties transatlantic mergers remain a minefield for all those involved For the parties there is the lack of legal certainty and its attendant costs and reputation for the regulators there is the political toll of reconciling conflicting competition policies Charles Smitherman reviews merger regulation frameworks on both sides of the Atlantic The author identifies areas of substantive and procedural differences as they exist today and explores the viability of convergence to aid the efficiency of the merger process through bilateral and domestic enhancements Throughout the work the emphasis is placed on pragmatic solutions rather than those of academic and oft unobtainable nature The backbone of the work is made up of the analysis of eight of the biggest U S EC merger cases between 2000 and 2004

Extraterritoriality and Climate Change Jurisdiction Natalie L Dobson, 2021-09-23 This book builds on the scholarship of the law of state jurisdiction engaging with fundamental questions about states legislative competence to respond to climate change Considering general theory the author advocates for a systemic analytical framework for the contested issue of extraterritoriality in international law Exploring the crystallisation of climate change jurisdiction the book provides a comprehensive exploration of the jurisdictional bases and limitations for unilateral climate protection measures In doing so cross cutting issues of world trade law international civil aviation law the law of the sea and importantly the customary international law of state jurisdiction are considered Amidst the myriad of developing norms a novel considerate design tool is introduced to assist policymakers in finding a better balance between regulatory autonomy development needs and the protection of common concerns

Transatlantic Regulation Susanne Lütz, 2016-03-16 The European and American economies are closely interlinked as mutually important investment and trading partners The growing intensity of economic interdependence has spurred the transatlantic coordination of rules and standards that can lead to the formation of non tariff barriers to transatlantic commerce But despite impressive government to government efforts to eliminate market barriers the E U and the U S have frequently clashed over each other s regulatory policies The aim of this book is to explore the domestic sources of cooperation or conflict in transatlantic regulation The book analyses the role of domestic factors through three theoretical lenses that are well established in the study of multilevel systems the principal agent approach the two level game metaphor and through a wider concept of institutionalism which emphasises the links between societal interests and regulatory ideas with institutional frameworks The book states that domestic factors embody more obstacles than opportunities for horizontal coordination It is argued that transatlantic relations will likely undergo a double movement of being simultaneously shifted upwards to become part of the global governance architecture and downwards towards broader involvement of legislators in regulatory matters Hence transatlantic regulation might in the near future be shaped more by political leaders rent seeking interest groups and legislators than by networks of technocrats This book was published as a

Cooperating on Competition in Transatlantic Economic Relations C. Damro, 2006-10-10. In this in depth study Damro explains the creation of a formal cooperative framework for preventing disputes in transatlantic competition policy. The findings suggest that while regulators remain constrained by domestic institutions they play an important role in explaining why the cooperative framework is largely a discretionary one.
