Transforming Legal Education Transforming Legal Education:

Transforming Legal Education Paul Maharg, 2016-12-05 Paul Maharg presents a critical inquiry into the identity and possibilities of legal education and an exploration of transformational alternatives to our current theories and practices of teaching and learning the law His work takes the view that bodies of interdisciplinary theory and knowledge of the history of legal education are important to all stages of legal education He also argues that new learning designs such as transactional learning need to be developed to help students educators and lawyers deal with the transitions and challenges facing them now and in the foreseeable future Throughout discussions of theory are spliced with case studies of academic and professional legal learning particularly in the field of technology enhanced learning The content of the book will be updated in a community of practice wiki at <http://www.transforming.org.uk> which will also allow readers to comment and expand on the book's final chapter

Transforming Legal Education Paul Maharg, 2011 Emotions in the Law School Emma Jones, 2019-08-23 Law schools are failing both their staff and students by requiring them to prize reason and rationality and to suppress or ignore emotions Despite innovations in terms of both content and teaching techniques there is little evidence that emotions are effectively acknowledged or utilised within legal education Instead law schools are clinging to an out dated and erroneous perception of emotions as at best irrational and at worst dangerous In contrast to this educational and scientific developments have demonstrated that emotions are a fundamental inescapable part of learning teaching and skills development Harnessing these emotions will therefore have a transformative effect on legal education and enable it to adapt to the needs and demands of the twenty first century This book provides a theoretical overview of the role played by emotions in all aspects of the life of the law school It explores the relationship emotions have with key traditional and contemporary approaches to legal education the ways in which emotions can be conceptualised their interaction with the politics and policies of legal education and their role within teaching and learning The book also considers the importance of emotional wellbeing for both law students and legal academics Overall this book argues for a more holistic form of legal education in which emotions play a valuable and valued role This requires a new vision for law schools in which emotions are acknowledged and embedded at all levels institutional and personal

Reimagining Clinical Legal Education Linden Thomas, Steven Vaughan, Bharat Malkani, Theresa Lynch, 2018-10-04 Clinical Legal Education CLE can be defined in broad terms as the study of law through real or simulated casework It enables students to experience the law in action and to reflect on those experiences CLE offers an alternative learning experience to the traditional lecture seminar method and allows participants to take the study of law beyond the lecture theatre and library CLE has been a part of English law schools for several decades and is becoming an increasingly popular component of a number of programmes It is also well established in North America Australia and many other countries around the globe In some law schools CLE is credit bearing in others it is an extracurricular activity Some CLE schemes focus on social welfare law whilst others are commercially orientated A number are run in conjunction with third sector organisations and many are supported by private practice law firms This edited collection brings together academics lawyers third sector organisations and students to discuss the present experience and potential of CLE As such it will be of interest to a wide and diverse audience both within and outside the UK Legal Education Caroline Strevens, Richard Grimes, Edward Phillips, 2016-04-22

The importance of simulation in education specifically in legal subjects is here discussed and explored within this innovative collection Demonstrating how simulation can be constructed and developed for learning teaching and assessment the text argues that simulation is a pedagogically valuable and practical tool in teaching the modern law curriculum With contributions from law teachers within the UK Australia Hong Kong South Africa and the USA the authors draw on their experiences in teaching law in the areas of clinical legal education legal process evidence criminal law family law and employment law as well as teaching law to non law students They claim that simulation as a form of experiential and problem based learning enables students to integrate the classroom experience with the real world experiences they will encounter in their professional lives This book will be of relevance not only to law teachers but university teachers generally as well as those interested in legal education and the theory of law Legal pedagogy, practice and curriculum transformation: What does the future hold and look like? and learning in any and all of those fields Law, Lawyering and Legal Education Charles Sampford, Hugh Breakey, 2016-10-04 Once a highly cosmopolitan profession law was largely domesticated by the demands of the Westphalian state But as the walls between sovereign states are lowered law is globalizing in a way that is likely to change law lawyering and legal education as much over the next 30 years when the students entering law schools today reach the peak of their profession as it has over the last 300 This book provides a sustained investigation of the theoretical and practical aspects of legal practice and education synthesizing and developing nearly thirty years of Professor Sampford's critical thought analysis and academic leadership The book features two major areas of investigation First it explains the significance of the critical theoretical and ethical dimensions of legal education and legal practice in making more effective practitioners placing ethics and values at the heart of the profession Second it explores the old new challenges and opportunities for ethical lawyers Challenges include those for lawyers working in large organisations dealing with issues from international tax minimisation to advising governments bent on war Opportunities range from the capacity to give clients ethical advice to playing a key role in the emergence of an international rule of law as they had to the domestic rule of law The book should stimulate great interest and occasional passion for legal practitioners students teachers and researchers of law lawyering legal practice and legal institutions Its interdisciplinary approaches should be of interest to those with interests in education theory international relations political science and government professional ethics sociology public policy and governance studies
