Travels In West Africa:

Travels in West Africa Mary Henrietta Kingsley,1898 Travels in West Africa Mary Kingsley,2015 Until 1893 Mary Kingsley lived the typical life of a single Victorian woman tending to sick relatives and keeping house for her brother However on the death of her parents she undertook an extraordinary decision with no prior knowledge of the region she set out alone to West Africa to pursue her anthropological interests Travels in West Africa Mary H Kingsley,2020-02-06 In 1893 defying every convention of Victorian womanhood Mary Kingsley set off alone for West Africa to collect botanical specimens Unaccompanied except for native guides she plunged boldly into forbidding jungles often the first European and almost always the first white woman ever to arrive Undaunted by tales of ferocious cannibals she made friends with the tribes she met and collected priceless samples of flora and fauna Along the way she fought off crocodiles with a paddle and hit a leopard over the head with a pot When she fell into a trap lined with sharp sticks she was saved by her voluminous crinolines for she always dressed like a lady Travels in West Africa is a book as vivid and unforgettable as the extraordinary woman herself Setting forth how the voyager departs from England in a stout vessel and in good company and reaches in due course the Island of the Grand Canary and then the Port of Sierra Leone to which is added some account of this latter place and the comeliness of its women Wherein also some description of Cape Coast and Accra is given to which are added divers observations on supplies to be obtained there Travels in West Africa Kingsley Mary,2023-07-27 Mary Kingsley went alone in 1893 to remote areas in West Africa crawling with cannibal tribes Some areas had never been visited by a white man much less a white woman She s at her best when writing in travel journal style The rest of the book that is not travel narrative is her thoughts and research on Africa and its fetishes which is what seems to be her word for the religious and traditional customs of the natives Travels in West Africa Mary H Kingsley,2020-02-06 In 1893 defying every convention of Victorian womanhood Mary Kingsley set off alone for West Africa to collect botanical specimens Unaccompanied except for native guides she plunged boldly into forbidding jungles often the first European and almost always the first white woman ever to arrive Undaunted by tales of ferocious cannibals she made friends with the tribes she met and collected priceless samples of flora and fauna Along the way she fought off crocodiles with a paddle and hit a leopard over the head with a pot When she fell into a trap lined with sharp sticks she was saved by her voluminous crinolines for she always dressed like a lady Travels in West Africa is a book as vivid and unforgettable as the extraordinary woman herself Setting forth how the voyager departs from England in a stout vessel and in good company and reaches in due course the Island of the Grand Canary and then the Port of Sierra Leone to which is added some account of this latter place and the comeliness of its women Wherein also some description of Cape Coast and Accra is given to which are added divers observations on supplies to be obtained there Travels in West Africa: Congo Français, Corisco and Cameroons William Forsell Kirby,Mary Henrietta Kingsley,Albert Carl Ludwig Gotthilf Gunther,2018-02-16 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of

Travels in West Africa Congo Francais Corisco and Cameroons Mary H Kingsley To my brother C G Kingsley this book is dedicated Relateth the various causes which impelled the author to embark upon the voyage It was in 1893 that for the first time in my life I found myself in possession of five or six months which were not heavily forestalled and feeling like a boy with a new half crown I lay about in my mind as Mr Bunyan would say as to what to do with them Go and learn your tropics said Science Where on earth am I to go I wondered for tropics are tropics wherever found so I got down an atlas and saw that either South America or West Africa must be my destination for the Malayan region was too far off and too expensive Then I got Wallace s Geographical Distribution and after reading that master s article on the Ethiopian region I hardened my heart and closed with West Africa I did this the more readily because while I knew nothing of the practical condition of it I knew a good deal both by tradition and report of South East America and remembered that Yellow Jack was endemic and that a certain naturalist my superior physically and mentally had come very near getting starved to death in the depressing society of an expedition slowly perishing of want and miscellaneous fevers up the Parana
