Calhoun, 1998-03 That which does not kill us makes us stronger Nietzsche The phenomenon of positive personal change following devastating events has been recognized since ancient times but given little attention by contemporary psychologists and psychiatrists who have tended to focus on the negative consequences of stress In recent years evidence from diverse fields has converged to suggest the reality and pervasive importance of the processes the editors sum up as posttraumatic growth This volume offers the first comprehensive overview of these processes The authors address a variety of traumas among them bereavement physical disability terminal illness combat rape and natural disasters following which
