Trauma Services For Women In Substance Abuse Treatment An Integrated Approach:

Trauma Services for Women in Substance Abuse Treatment Denise Hien, Lisa Caren Litt, Lisa R Cohen, ScM, Gloria M Miele, Aimee Campbell, 2015-06-04 Violence against women has been studied in thousands of research articles and books across multiple disciplines. The extraordinary range of subtopics alone makes it difficult for clinicians, teachers, and researchers to form a coherent picture of the phenomenon. This book comprehensively examines and integrates a vast and diverse literature base drawing from divergent findings to reveal a picture of complexity and of intertwining risk and resilience factors. It is an excellent resource for doctoral dissertations in any of the three major fields covered: adult female victimization, substance abuse among women, and mental health issues for women. Readers who work in any of these fields will find this book a provocative and indispensable resource. Cover PsycINFO Database Record © 2009 APA. All rights reserved.

Trauma Services for Women in Substance Abuse Treatment Denise Hien, 2009. This book is a hands-on guide for clinicians seeking to treat women who suffer from both a history of trauma and the effects of substance abuse. The intertwined nature of trauma and addiction is explored through a review of recent research with a focus on treatment options for PTSD and addiction that together form the basis for many of the recently developed treatments for trauma and addiction. Co-morbidity. Vital background material is included that describes the effects of trauma on emotion regulation, interpersonal functioning, parenting, and physical health. Finally, the book addresses the many real-world challenges clinicians will face in implementing trauma-focused therapeutic approaches in community-based substance abuse treatment. The authors have written an essential resource for substance abuse program directors who want to broaden their services to better assist their clients. It will also be helpful for clinicians and social workers who want to better understand the complicated nature of their clients' problems as well as for researchers seeking to expand on the current understanding of addiction and trauma co-morbidity and for all who seek to further develop integrated treatments to help lead victims to recovery. Learning the Language of Addiction Counseling Geri Miller, 2014-09-08 FULLY REVISED COMPREHENSIVE AND PRACTICAL. Learning the Language of Addiction Counseling Fourth Edition introduces counselors, social workers, and students to the field of addiction counseling and helps them acquire the knowledge and develop the skills needed to counsel individuals who are caught in the destructive cycle of addiction. Drawing from her years of experience working in the addiction counseling field, Geri Miller provides an engaging, balanced overview of the major theoretical foundations and clinical best practices in the field. Fully updated, the Fourth Edition offers a positive, practice-oriented counseling framework and features a research-based clinical application approach to addiction counseling that practitioners can turn to for fundamental, practical clinical guidelines. Revised chapters that reflect important changes in research and practice, including new DSM-5 criteria, new assessment instruments, and new and expanded treatments. Case studies, interactive exercises, end-of-chapter questions, and other resources that facilitate the integration of knowledge into practice. Personal Reflections.

sections at the beginning of each chapter provide an invaluable unique perspective on the author's evolving views of addiction counseling. Updated and expanded online Instructor's Manual that includes brief video clips PowerPoint slides test bank questions for each chapter and sample syllabi. From assessment and diagnosis of addiction to preparing for certification and licensure as an addiction professional, this comprehensive book covers all of the essentials. Clinical Work with Substance-Abusing Clients, Third Edition Shulamith Lala Ashenberg Straussner, 2013-12-12. This volume offers practical guidance for working with substance abusers and their families in a variety of clinical contexts. Expert contributors present major assessment and treatment approaches together with detailed recommendations for intervening with specific substances and meeting the needs of different populations. Throughout, helpful case vignettes illustrate how to translate the ideas presented into practice and overcome common stumbling blocks. Strategies for Work with Involuntary Clients Ronald H. Rooney, Rebecca G. Mirick, 2018-05-01. Often in their careers, social workers will encounter clients who are either legally required to attend treatment services or are otherwise coerced or pressured into those services. Practitioners in settings from prisons to emergency rooms to nursing homes to child protection agencies will find themselves with involuntary clients. In an update to this classic text, social workers Ronald H. Rooney and Rebecca G. Mirick explore the best ways to work with unwilling clients. While work with involuntary clients is common, it can be challenging, frustrating, and unproductive unless practitioners are well trained for it. This book provides a theoretical framework for understanding the legal, ethical, and practical concerns when working with involuntary clients, offering theory, treatment models, and specific practice strategies influenced by the best available knowledge. Animated by case studies across diverse settings, these resources can be used by practitioners to facilitate collaborative, effective working relationships with involuntary clients. Principles of Addiction Medicine Richard K. Ries, Shannon C. Miller, David A. Fiellin, 2009. This respected text from the American Society of Addiction Medicine is valuable for all physicians and mental health personnel who specialize in addiction medicine and who treat patients with addiction disorders. The chapters blend scientific principles underlying addiction with the practical essentials of clinical addiction medicine. Many of the contributors are affiliated with leading government agencies that study addiction and its science, such as the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and the National Institute on Drug Abuse. The book will appeal to a wide and interdisciplinary range of professionals, especially those with interest or duties relating to addiction-related disorders and, in particular, physicians seeking certification status via either the American Board of Addiction Medicine or the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. A companion Website will offer the fully searchable text. Choice, 2009. Women's Mental Health Issues Across the Criminal Justice System Rosemary L. Gido, 2009. The first of its kind, Women's Mental Health Issues Across the Criminal Justice System is dedicated to giving the most invisible offenders in today's criminal justice system—mentally ill adolescent girls and women—a face and a voice. The book is organized around the subsystems of the U.S. criminal justice system. Each section highlights mental health research and policy issues and focuses on the impediments to treatment and service delivery as well as the model programs assessments and intervention processes that offer hope within and across the system Library Journal, 2009 Highs & Lows Lorraine Greaves, Nancy Poole, 2007 Women's and girls substance use is an important health economic and social issue in Canada. However, most books about alcohol and other drug use do not address the unique needs and circumstances of this population. Highs & Lows draws on the latest theory and research to offer strategies for improving practice and developing policy to support women with substance use problems. This unique book includes contributions from nearly 100 experts on women's substance use including psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, clinical therapists, health promoters, academics, alternative health care providers, women's health advocates, and women who have personally been affected by substance use. The book includes in-depth chapters on the interconnection of trauma, mental health, and substance use problems for women, pregnancy, mothering, and substance use, innovative treatment, harm reduction, and prevention programs designed with women's needs in mind, challenges and opportunities for improved research, treatment, and policy development. Highs & Lows also includes snapshots of the latest in women-centred research, treatment, and policy innovations, statistics on women's substance use in Canada, women's personal narratives of their experiences of substance use problems. Highs & Lows is a valuable resource for program developers and administrators, researchers, and policy makers, therapists, and counsellors, and educators and students. It is an ideal choice as a course text on this topic. Highs & Lows was developed through a partnership between the British Columbia Centre of Excellence for Women's Health and the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health.

Women's Treatment Services -- Reshaping the Landscape, 2010 Helping Women Recover Stephanie S.

Covington, 2008-06-09 The Step by Step Guide to a Powerful Process for Healing Women with Substance Abuse. Since it was first published in 1999, Helping Women Recover has set the standard for best practice in the field of women and addiction. Helping Women Recover is based on Dr. Covington's Women's Integrated Treatment (WIT) model. It offers a program specifically designed to meet the unique needs of women in correctional settings who are addicted to alcohol and other drugs or have co-occurring disorders. This thoroughly revised and updated edition includes evidence-based and empirically tested therapeutic interventions that are used to treat substance abuse and trauma in an innovative way. The Helping Women Recover program offers counselors, mental health professionals, and program administrators the tools they need to implement a gender-responsive, trauma-informed treatment program within the criminal justice system. Included in SAMHSA's National Registry of Evidence-based Programs and Practices.
