Untapped Air Force Resources For Stabilization And Reconstruction Operations:

Untapped Air Force Resources for Stabilization and Reconstruction Operations ,2006 This thesis reviews the potential contributions of the United States Air Force to stabilization and reconstruction operations Specifically the Air Force s On Scene Commanders Course and Air Force Mission Support Group Commanders are assessed as potential Air Force assets that could be employed in stabilization and reconstruction operations This research will determine the course s ability to satisfy key needs identified in the post conflict literature and if the course would be useful for other U S agencies with responsibilities in post conflict operations Finally the paper asks if Mission Support Group Commanders can provide critical skill sets valuable in stability operations This work will assess the applicability of these Air Force leaders duties for possible use in post conflict operations by reviewing the Air Force s Objective Wing Structure and the duty histories of current and former Mission Support Group Commanders

Report on Progress Toward Security and Stability in Afghanistan

Barry Leonard,2009-09 After the attacks of 9 11 the U S and our international partners toppled the Taliban regime in Afghanistan ending years of brutal misrule and denying al Qaeda a safe haven from which to launch its attacks The U S strategic goals remain that Afghanistan is 1 a reliable stable ally in the War on Terror 2 moderate and democratic with a thriving private sector economy 3 capable of governing its territory and borders and 4 respectful of the rights of all its citizens Achieving these goals requires the application of a whole of government approach along multiple lines of operation including security governance and development This report describes both the progress we are making in achieving our national objectives and the challenges we continue to face

Stabilization and Reconstruction Operations: A

New Paradigm, Analysis Tool, and US Air Force Role ,2007 Today the Department of Defense and Department of State have difficulty evaluating the degree of nation state failure in its consideration for stabilization and reconstruction efforts Could our nation be making a most basic error of trying to apply western styled tried and tested in the US templates to every failed nation and state situation Can a new paradigm be used to evaluate a nation state s social evolution Can our nation apply new tools and resources to the task of failed nation state reconstruction This paper proposes that discernable levels of societal progress or failure can be defined using a new model for evaluating levels of nation state evolution Combining this model with a newly presented concept called centers of lift may help determine the best approach in shaping stabilization and reconstruction missions Carefully tailoring a stabilization and reconstruction mission to match the precise needs of the targeted failed nation state will help ensure sustained success Finally this paper asserts that the US Air Force is a national resource capable of organizing training and equipping its forces for the conduct of stabilization and reconstruction operations in the post conflict environment The US Air Force has all the fundamental trade and profession skills sets imbedded in current mission support roles
