The Oxford Handbook of Intellectual Disability and Development Jacob A. Burack, 2012 We know considerably more about persons with intellectual disability than we did even a decade ago Seeking to improve and increase upon this knowledge this book provides a map to continue sophisticated and precise research to inspire professionals involved with intellectual disability and to better the lives of persons affected by it Success for All Robert E. Slavin, Nancy A. Madden, 2001 Success for All is a comprehensive reform model for elementary school that combines state of the art curriculum research based instructional methods assessments and professional development with one to one tutoring extensive family support services and other strategies to ensure that every child is successful in the early grades and then builds on that success throughout the elementary years Started in 1987 it is the most widely used of all reform designs It is currently in about 1800 schools serving more than a million U S children mostly in high poverty schools It is also the most extensively researched comprehensive reform program with two dozen evaluations carried out in eight research institutions Success for All Research and Reform in Elementary Education is the first edited volume presenting research on Success for All in the U S and in five other countries for which the program has been adapted This book presents a description of Success for All an overall summary of all achievement studies reviews of research original presentations of new research and discussions of the impacts and the implications of this research and dissemination for educational policy and practice in many arenas Advances in Research on Reading Recovery Jerome V. D'Agostino, 2018-12-07 There is no shortage of innovative educational programs the challenge is learning how to scale and sustain those with strong evidence of effectiveness This book focuses on Reading Recovery one of the few educational innovations that has successfully expanded and established itself in several educational systems in the world Developed by Marie Clay in New Zealand during the mid 1980s Reading Recovery is an intensive intervention for young students who are struggling to learn how to read and has expanded to several countries across the globe over the last 30 years Providing evidence of the intervention s effectiveness both in the short and long term this volume presents in depth studies to elucidate why the program is effective discusses the trials and tribulations in scaling and sustaining the program and approaches scaling and maintaining from theoretical and practical perspectives The contributors to this book explain how Reading Recovery has established itself because it has maintained a strong focus on evidence developed a deep sense of community among its practitioners and was at the forefront in enhancing professional development of the teachers who delivered the intervention Understanding the implementation experiences of the intervention is beneficial for any innovation developer who wishes to grow and sustain an intervention The chapters in this book were originally published as articles in the Journal of Education for Students Placed At Risk The Statistics of Natural Selection on Animal Populations Brian F. Manly, 2013-03-09 In the concluding chapter of his famous book on the theory of evolution by natural selection Charles Darwin 1859 remarked that When the views entertained in this volume on the origin of species or when analogous views are generally admitted we can dimly foresee that there will be a considerable revolution in natural history This proved of course to be completely correct At present there is a great divergence of opinion about the general importance of natural selection in the evolutionary process Nevertheless biologists are on the whole united in their acceptance of the potential power of selection in changing populations Given this situation it is not surprising to find that many attempts to detect the effects of natural selection have been made since the time of Darwin This area of study has been called ecological genetics It involves the collection of data of various kinds and in many cases the development of special methods for analysing these data This book is a summary of methods for data analysis concentrating on those that are applicable to animal populations particularly wild populations Age-related Changes in Auditory Perception Leah
