

I've spent a lot of the past year waiting – mostly for you. Here's hoping Jackson actually shows up. I.

Ethnographies of Waiting Manpreet K. Janeja, Andreas Bandak, 2020-05-27 We all wait in traffic jams passport offices school meal queues for better weather an end to fighting peace Time spent waiting produces hope boredom anxiety doubt or uncertainty Ethnographies of Waiting explores the social phenomenon of waiting and its centrality in human society Using waiting as a central analytical category the book investigates how waiting is negotiated in myriad ways Examining the politics and poetics of waiting Ethnographies of Waiting offers fresh perspectives on waiting as the uncertain interplay between doubting and hoping and asks When is time worth the wait Waiting thus conceived is intrinsic to the ethnographic method at the heart of the anthropological enterprise Featuring detailed ethnographies from Japan Georgia England Ghana Norway Russia and the United States a Foreword by Craig Jeffrey and an Afterword by Ghassan Hage this is a vital contribution to the field of anthropology of time and essential reading for students and scholars in anthropology sociology and philosophy

The Waiting List Dayzī Amīr, Barbara Parmenter, Mona Mikhail, 1994 Daisy Al Amir is one of the more visible figures in women's fiction in the Arab world today This collection of stories originally published in Lebanon as Ala La ihat al Intizar is the most recent of her five publications Her stories intimately reflect women's experiences in the chaotic worlds of the Lebanese civil war and the rise of Saddam Hussain as Iraq's leader Set in Iraq Cyprus and Lebanon the stories shed light on an unusual Middle East refugee experience that of a cultural refugee a divorced woman who is educated affluent and alone Al Amir is also a poet and novelist whose sensual prose grows out of a long tradition of Iraqi poetry But one also finds existential themes in her works as Al Amir tries to balance what seems fated and what seems arbitrary in the turbulent world she inhabits She deals with time and space in a minimalist surreal style while studying the disappointments of life through the subjective lens of memory Honestly facing the absence of family and the instability of place Al Amir gives lifelike qualities to the inanimate objects of her rapidly changing world In addition to the stories two examples of the author's experimental poems are included In her introduction Mona Mikhail places these stories and poems in the context of contemporary Islamic literature and gender studies

Waiting for the Bus Gertrude E. Jennings, 1919 Waiting in Christian Traditions Joanne Robinson, 2015-12-17 Christians wait for prayers to be answered for an afterlife in heaven for the Virgin Mary to appear and for God to speak They wait to be liberated from oppression to be saved or born again for Easter morning to dawn for healing for conversion and for baptism Waiting and the disappointment and hope that often accompany it are explained in terms that are at first glance remarkably invariant across Christian traditions what will happen will happen on God's time A study of sources from across Christian traditions shows that there is considerable complexity beneath this surface claim Understandings of free will and personal agency alongside shifts in institutional and theological commitments change the ways waiting is understood and valued Waiting is often considered a positive state to be endured as long as God wills and that fundamental understanding helps keep the promises at the heart of Christianity alive Scholars have long overlooked the problem and promise of waiting despite or perhaps because of its prevalence. Indeed, there are relatively few mystics, few who have undergone sudden conversion, and few who have attained saintly status. Many, however, have waited, and that problem remains prominent, and its solutions remain influential in Christian traditions today. The Waiting Room F.G. Cottam, 2010-06-24. Martin Stride is a retired rock star enjoying the quiet life with his young family on their beautiful estate. On the edge of his grounds lies a derelict Edwardian railway station waiting room, once used to transport troops in The Great War. Silent for many years, it has become a playground for Martin's children, but now they won't go near it. Strange occurrences in the waiting room lead Martin to seek the help of TV's favourite ghost hunter, Julian Creed. But Creed's psychic ability is a fabrication to gain viewers. He doesn't believe in the paranormal. Until he spends a night in The Waiting Room. The Meaning is in the Waiting Paula Gooder, 2013-01-07. This is the first in a series of books commissioned in consultation with John Sentamu. It can be described as The Archbishop of York's Advent book. Its theme is overtly an Advent one, yet subsequent books will range over other biblical and seasonal topics. Paula Gooder provides a profoundly biblical guide to the season of Advent, and we explore its central theme of waiting: something we are not good at in our modern culture, in the company of the biblical characters who feature prominently in the lectionary readings for the season: Abraham and Sarah who waited for a child; Isaiah and the prophets who waited for judgement and redemption; John the Baptist whose role was to wait in the wilderness until the prophecies he foretold were realised; Mary whose waiting began in pregnancy and continued as she stood at the foot of the cross. Arranged for daily reading, this offers an exquisite meditation on the spirituality of waiting: the active doing of nothing as a way of enhancing our lives and bringing us closer to God. An English Grammar and Reading Book for Lower Forms in Classical Schools Osborne William Tancock, 1872. Waiting Ghassan Hage, 2009-07-15. In this rich and insightful collection of essays, leading anthropologist Ghassan Hage brings together academics across political science, philosophy, anthropology, and sociology for an examination into the experience of waiting. What is it to wait? What do we wait for? And how is waiting connected to the social worlds in which we live? From Beckett's darkly comic play Waiting for Godot to the perpetual waiting of refugees to return home, or to moments of intense anticipation such as falling in love or the birth of a baby, there are many ways in which we wait. This compelling collection of essays suggests that this experience is among the essential conditions that make us human and connect us to others. In the Meantime Adeline Masquelier, Deborah Durham, 2023-03-10. The meantime represents the gap between what is past and the unknown future. When considered as waiting, the meantime is defined as a period of suspension to be endured. By contrast, the contributors of this volume understand it as a space of the possible where calculation coexists with uncertainty, promises with disappointment, and imminence with deferral. Attending to the temporalities of emerging rather than settled facts, they put the stress on the temporal tactics, social commitments, material connections, dispositional orientations, and affective circuits that emerge in the meantime, even in the most desperate times. Prayers for Uncertain Times Wicks, Robert

J.,2021 A collection of prayers both previously published and new that offer hope encouragement and direction in these volatile times A vademecum from a popular distinguished author
