

The background of the book cover is a dark, atmospheric photograph. On the left, the Statue of Liberty is visible, illuminated from below, showing its torch and crown. On the right, a man in a trench coat and hat is shown in profile, looking towards the left. The overall tone is moody and cinematic.

the 1980s Flushing had become NYC's second Chinatown. But Eng remained one of the neighborhood's few Chinese citizens who did not speak fluent Chinese. Finding his way in the downtown theater and performance world of Manhattan, he discovered the under-chronicled Chinese influence on Thornton Wilder's foundational Americana drama Our Town. This discovery became the unlikely catalyst for a psyche-healing pilgrimage to Hong Kong and Guangzhou, China, his ancestral home in southern China that led to writing and performing his successful autobiographical monologue The Last Emperor of Flushing. Learning to tell his own story on stages around the world was what proudly made him whole. As cities, classrooms, cultures, and communities the world over continue to re-examine the parameters of diversity, equity, and inclusion, Our Laundry Our Town will reverberate with a broad readership.
