Jo Zalea Matias, Nicola Scheyhing, Doris Gutschiedl-Schumann, 2025-09-26 This volume presents an overview of the diversity or lack thereof in visual representations of the European past that are found in archaeology museums and media While publications discussing gender stereotypes in European archaeological media exist other identities remain underrepresented namely Black Indigenous and People of Color BIPOC those with visible and invisible disabilities and very young and very old This volume offers insight into these gaps in European media and archaeology while also providing alternative explanations for interpreting these often stereotyped identities and methodologies for inclusion The chapters within this volume are divided into four themes Themes cover the development of images of the past and discusses how images are chosen in museums The book identifies who is missing in images of the past with topics on representing individuals with disabilities children in museums the Other in Roman art and Scythians in museums and books and critiques approaches to representation and diversity in media such as in textbooks popular media and children's books Finally the book challenges the lack of diversity and a proliferation of stereotypes in images of the past and asks how do we improve on them and create new ones Overall this book addresses the need for diversity in images both within academic archaeology and with the broader public Heritage Comics Dallas Signature Auction Catalog #820 Ivy Press, 2006-03 Translation and Localisation in Video Games Miguel Á. Bernal-Merino, 2014-09-19 This book is a multidisciplinary study of the translation and localisation of video games It offers a descriptive analysis of the industry understood as a global phenomenon in entertainment and aims to explain the norms governing present industry practices as well as game localisation processes Additionally it discusses particular translation issues that are unique to the multichannel nature of video games in which verbal and nonverbal signs must be cohesively combined with interactivity to achieve maximum playability and immerse players in the game's virtual world Although positioned within the theoretical framework of descriptive translation studies Bernal Merino incorporates research from audiovisual translation software localisation computer assisted translation comparative literature and video game production Moving beyond this framework Translation and Localisation in Video Games challenges some of the basic tenets of translation studies and proposes changes to established and unsatisfactory processes in the video game and language services industries

The American Comic Book Industry and Hollywood Alisa Perren, Gregory Steirer, 2021-05-20 The American Comic Book Industry and Hollywood traces the evolving relationship between the American comic book industry and Hollywood from the launch of X Men Spider Man and Smallville in the early 2000s through the ascent of the Marvel Cinematic Universe the Arrowverse and the Walking Dead Universe in the 2010s Perren and Steirer illustrate how the American comic book industry simultaneously has functioned throughout the first two decades of the twenty first century as a relatively self contained business characterized by its own organizational structures business models managerial discourses production cultures and professional identities even as it has remained dependent on Hollywood for revenue from IP licensing The authors expansive view of the industry includes not only a discussion of the Big Two Marvel Disney and DC Comics Time Warner but also a survey of the larger comics ecosystem Other key industry players including independent publishers BOOM Studios IDW and Image digital distributor ComiXology and management production company Circle of Confusion all receive attention Drawing from interviews fieldwork archival research and trade analysis The American Comic Book Industry and Hollywood provides a road map to understanding the operations of the comic book industry while also offering new models for undertaking trans and inter industrial analysis
