The State of Conservation Joshua Nygren, 2025-01-07

The Flood Year 1927 Susan Scott Parrish, 2018-12-04 A richly nuanced cultural history of the Great Mississippi flood The Great Mississippi Flood of 1927 was the most destructive river flood in U.S. history drowning crops and displacing more than half a million people across seven states It was also the first environmental disaster to be experienced virtually on a mass scale The Flood Year 1927 draws from newspapers radio broadcasts political cartoons vaudeville blues songs poetry and fiction to show how this event provoked an intense and lasting cultural response Americans at first seemed united in what Herbert Hoover called a great relief machine but deep rifts soon arose Southerners pointing to faulty federal levee design decried the attack of Yankee water The condition of African American evacuees prompted comparisons to slavery from pundits like W E B Du Bois and Ida B Wells And environmentalists like Gifford Pinchot called the flood the most colossal blunder in civilized history Susan Scott Parrish examines how these and other key figures from entertainers Will Rogers Miller Lyles and Bessie Smith to authors Sterling Brown William Faulkner and Richard Wright shaped public awareness and collective memory of the event The crises of this period that usually dominate historical accounts are war and financial collapse but The Flood Year 1927 allows us to assess how mediated environmental disasters became central to modern consciousness White Work and Reparative

Genealogy Mary Watkins, 2025-09-13 What does it mean to reckon with a legacy of white supremacy White Work and Reparative Genealogy invites white identifying readers on a courageous journey into the heart of ancestral memory historical accountability and racial repair Clinical psychologist Mary Watkins traces her family's lineage from 1607 Jamestown through generations of slave ownership and racial violence in the American South Blending personal narrative historical research and psychological insight Watkins models a practice of white work a form of reparative genealogy that confronts the silences and distortions in white family histories With reflective questions at the end of each chapter this book offers practical tools for readers ready to explore their own histories and take action toward racial justice This is a book for those who seek to move through guilt and shame not around them toward healing solidarity and shared liberation Fire Ecology and Management: Past, Present, and Future of US Forested Ecosystems Cathryn H. Greenberg, Beverly Collins, 2021-10-01 This edited volume presents original scientific research and knowledge synthesis covering the past present and potential future fire ecology of major US forest types with implications for forest management in a changing climate The editors and authors highlight broad patterns among ecoregions and forest types as well as detailed information for individual ecoregions for fire frequencies and severities fire effects on tree mortality and regeneration and levels of fire dependency by plant and animal communities The foreword addresses emerging ecological and fire management challenges for forests in relation to sustainable development goals as highlighted in recent government reports An introductory chapter highlights patterns of variation in frequencies severities scales and spatial patterns of fire across ecoregions and among forested ecosystems across the US in relation to climate fuels topography and soils ignition sources lightning or anthropogenic and vegetation Separate chapters by respected experts delve into the fire ecology of major forest types within US ecoregions with a focus on the level of plant and animal fire dependency and the role of fire in maintaining forest composition and structure The regional chapters also include discussion of historic natural lightning ignited and anthropogenic Native American settlers fire regimes current fire regimes as influenced by recent decades of fire suppression and land use history and fire management in relation to ecosystem integrity and restoration wildfire threat and climate change The summary chapter combines the major points of each chapter in a synthesis of US wide fire ecology and forest management into the future This book provides current organized readily accessible information for the conservation community land managers scientists students and educators and others interested in how fire behavior and effects on structure and composition differ among ecoregions and forest types and what that means for forest management today and in the future

War Upon the Land Lisa M. Brady, 2012 War upon the land is not merely an environmental history of the war Instead Brady s is a book about how the Civil War engaged with and forever altered a suite of nineteenth century American ideas about nature Thus it examines the place of wilderness in the history of the Civil War and as importantly the place of the Civil War in the history of wilderness Foreword

Stalking the Ghost Bird Michael K. Steinberg, 2008-03-01 When a kayaker thought he spotted an ivory billed woodpecker in 2004 the birding community took notice Two birders traveled to the bayou where the sighting occurred well aware that the last confirmed sighting of an ivory bill had taken place over sixty years ago Both men caught a glimpse of the bird and a team began to search the surrounding swamplands Even after long hours of surveillance and multiple sightings the scientists cautiously refused to disclose their rediscovery of the extinct bird until they captured it on film At last armed with a short video and sound clip they published their findings in Science triggering a frenzy of media coverage and sparking a controversy among birders and scientists who continue to disagree about whether the bird really still exists In Stalking the Ghost Bird Michael K Steinberg engages the lengthy debate over the ivory bill s status by examining the reported sightings and extensive efforts to find the rare bird in Louisiana Louisiana has long been at the center of the ivory bill s story John James Audubon wrote about the bird and its habitat during his stay in St Francisville and scientists James Tanner and George Lowery studied the ivory bill in Louisiana in the 1930s and 1940s More recently bird experts have conducted targeted searches in Louisiana Steinberg discusses these and other scientific expeditions and he catalogs reported ivory bill sightings since the 1950s using a detailed timeline that includes both dates and specific locations Interviews with conservation officials ornithologists and native Louisianans illuminate the ongoing controversy and explore why the ivory bill more than any other bird arouses so much attention Steinberg meets elderly residents of the Atchafalaya Basin who saw the ivory bill while hunting in the 1930s and even ate the bird which they called the forest turkey during hard times He paddles into Two O Clock Bayou with one wildlife professor and travels to a cypress filled wildlife refuge with the director of Louisiana s Nature Conservancy His interviews illustrate how expert opinions vary as well as how much local non experts know Steinberg also explores in detail the human impact on both the ivory bill and its bottomland forest habitat explains how forest management practices in the South may pose problems for an ivory bill recovery and outlines where future searches for the bird should take place In this absorbing study Steinberg turns his lifelong interest in the majestic ivory billed woodpecker into a tale that encapsulates both the mystery and intrigue surrounding the legendary bird and our fascination with it

The Larder John T. Edge, Elizabeth S. D. Engelhardt, Ted Ownby, Sara Camp Milam, 2013-10-15 The sixteen essays in The Larder argue that the study of food does not simply help us understand more about what we eat and the foodways we embrace The methods and strategies herein help scholars use food and foodways as lenses to examine human experience The resulting conversations provoke a deeper understanding of our overlapping historically situated and evolving cultures and societies The Larder presents some of the most influential scholars in the discipline today from established authorities such as Psyche Williams Forson to emerging thinkers such as Rien T Fertel writing on subjects as varied as hunting farming and marketing as well as examining restaurants iconic dishes and cookbooks Editors John T Edge Elizabeth Engelhardt and Ted Ownby bring together essays that demonstrate that food studies scholarship as practiced in the American South sets methodological standards for the discipline The essayists ask questions about gender race and ethnicity as they explore issues of identity and authenticity And they offer new ways to think about material culture technology and the business of food The Larder is not driven by nostalgia Reading such a collection of essays may not encourage food metaphors It s not a feast not a gumbo certainly not a home cooked meal Ted Ownby argues in his closing essay Instead it s a healthy step in the right direction taken by the leading scholars in the field
