To Be A Hero Literature And Thought:

Evil: A History in Modern French Literature and Thought Damian Catani, 2013-02-14 In this original interdisciplinary approach to evil in French literature Damian Catani links literary depictions of evil with cultural events to chart a history of the concept in some of the most important texts in modern literature Beginning with Balzac and Baudelaire Catani covers the restoration and the Second Empire before interpreting how Catholic stereotypes of the evil feminine and new scientific theories impacted the work of Lautr amont and Zola Moving into the twentieth century evil is then explored in terms of the Self power knowledge and politics through readings of Proust C line Sartre and Foucault By seamlessly bringing together aesthetic philosophical historical and ideological concerns to read key French writers from the 18th to the 21st century this study argues why a broader treatment of literary evils is vital to understanding our contemporary moral and political climate

On the Literature and Thought of the German Classical Era Hugh Barr Nisbet, 2021-05-20 This volume provides a valuable contribution to our knowledge of eighteenth and nineteenth century intellectual life inside and outside Germany Prof Karl S Guthke Harvard University This elegant collection of essays ranges across eighteenth and nineteenth century thought covering philosophy science literature and religion in the Age of Goethe A recognised authority in the field Nisbet grapples with the major voices of the Enlightenment and gives pride of place to the figures of Lessing Herder Goethe and Schiller These eleven essays range widely in their compass of thought and intellectual discourse dealing incisively with themes including the philosophical implications of literature and the relationship between religion science and politics The result is an accomplished reflection on German thought but also on its rebirth as Nisbet argues for the relevance of these Enlightenment thinkers for the readers of today The first half of this collection focuses predominantly on eighteenth century thought where names like Lessing Goethe and Herder but also Locke and Voltaire feature The second has a wider chronological scope discussing authors such as Winckelmann and Schiller while branching out from discussions of religion philosophy and literature to explore the sciences Issues of biology early environmentalism and natural history also form part of this volume The collection concludes with an examination of changing attitudes towards art in the aftermath of the Age of Goethe The essays in this volume have been previously published separately but are brought together in this collection to present Nisbet s widely acclaimed perspectives on this fascinating period of German thought It will be of interest to scholars and students of the intellectual life of Europe during the Enlightenment while its engaging and lucid style will also appeal to the general reader
