Embodying Gender and Age in Speculative Fiction Derek J. Thiess, 2015-10-14 Following scholarship on gender in science fiction this book explores the limits of considering age as a social construction positing that an acknowledgement of aged bodies necessarily changes the way we read both age and science fiction. The volume employs contemporary clinical psychology the biopsychosocial model to demonstrate that age is an important and neglected topic relevant to the study of speculative fiction. While gender offers a vocabulary the biopsychosocial approach provides a method to consider age and gender as an embodied synthesis of physicality psychology and social environment. This respected model of clinical psychology allows a unique and innovative lens through which to read age and the body in literature. Thiess offers readings of established sf classics including Octavia Butler's Parable series Orson Scott Card's Ender's Game and cyberpunk authors such as Bruce Sterling Pat Cadigan and Neal Stephenson also exploring more mainstream speculative works including Stephanie Meyer's Twilight series and Joss Whedon's Firefly Serenity. Visiting topics such as care work sexuality sport and the military in these works the book demonstrates that acknowledging a more fully embodied age is not only necessary for the individual subject but will also enrich our understanding of other social categories including gender and race. Taking a constructive rather than adversarial stance this book does not merely question how much one can ethically and responsibly
