Trace Elements In Animal Production Systems:

Trace elements in animal production systems P. Schlegel, S. Durosoy, A.W. Jongbloed, 2023-08-28 This book deals with trace elements such as cobalt copper iron manganese selenium and zinc which are essential to modern animal nutrition but are increasingly detrimental to soil and water quality in today's globalized production The goal in finding a sustainable balance between trace element use in animal nutrition and its impact on the environment is addressed by focussing on the following questions What is the trace element flow on farm regional or national scale and which tools are available to influence the flow What are today's and future soil and water quality in regards to trace minerals What are the trace mineral loading limits in soil and water from a health and legal standpoint Which technologies exist to modify slurry trace element contents What is today's knowledge on quantitative and qualitative trace element requirements and recommended supplementation for ruminants swine poultry fish and crustaceans What is trace element bioavailability and how can it be determined To which extent are trace minerals related to immune response What are the future issues to be addressed in trace element nutrition This book contains the peer reviewed papers of the first International Symposium on Trace Elements in Animal Production Systems It is a valuable resource for researchers and professionals in the life sciences of animal nutrition soil and water quality for actors in the feed industry and policy making

Geomedicine Jul Lag, 1990-08-15 This fascinating work features such topics as the relationships between iodine deficiency and goiter fluorine deficiency and caries selenium deficiency and muscular degeneration mercury surplus and specific nerve diseases cadmium surplus and kidney failure This one of a kind volume reveals discoveries which may be of importance in future preventive medicine for man and animals It shows that the comprehensive progress in chemical analyses has established a valuable basis for determining many environmental features and for the foundation of modern geomedicine Those involved with geology soil science nutrition biology veterinary sciences and prophylactic socio medical sciences will find this resource indispensable

Livestock in a Changing Landscape, Volume 1 Henning Steinfeld, Harold A. Mooney, Fritz Schneider, Laurie E. Neville, 2013-03-06 The rapidly changing nature of animal production systems especially increasing intensification and globalization is playing out in complex ways around the world Over the last century livestock keeping evolved from a means of harnessing marginal resources to produce items for local consumption to a key component of global food chains Livestock in a Changing Landscape offers a comprehensive examination of these important and far reaching trends The books are an outgrowth of a collaborative effort involving international nongovernmental organizations including the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization UN FAO the International Livestock Research Institute ILRI the Swiss College of Agriculture SHL the French Agricultural Research Centre for International Development CIRAD and the Scientific Committee for Problems of the Environment SCOPE Volume 1 examines the forces shaping change in livestock production and management the resulting impacts on landscapes land use and social systems and potential policy and management responses Volume 2 explores needs and draws experience from region specific contexts and detailed case studies The case studies describe how drivers and consequences of change play out in specific geographical areas and how public and private responses are shaped and implemented Together the volumes present new sustainable approaches to the challenges created by fundamental shifts in livestock management and production and represent an essential resource for policy makers industry managers and academics involved with this issue

Critical Role of Animal Science Research in Food Security and Sustainability

National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Sciences, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Policy and Global Affairs, Science and Technology for Sustainability Program, Committee on Considerations for the Future of Animal Science Research, 2015-03-31 By 2050 the world's population is projected to grow by one third reaching between 9 and 10 billion With globalization and expected growth in global affluence a substantial increase in per capita meat dairy and fish consumption is also anticipated The demand for calories from animal products will nearly double highlighting the critical importance of the world's animal agriculture system Meeting the nutritional needs of this population and its demand for animal products will require a significant investment of resources as well as policy changes that are supportive of agricultural production Ensuring sustainable agricultural growth will be essential to addressing this global challenge to food security Critical Role of Animal Science Research in Food Security and Sustainability identifies areas of research and development technology and resource needs for research in the field of animal agriculture both nationally and internationally This report assesses the global demand for products of animal origin in 2050 within the framework of ensuring global food security evaluates how climate change and natural resource constraints may impact the ability to meet future global demand for animal products in sustainable production systems and identifies factors that may impact the ability of the United States to meet demand for animal products including the need for trained human capital product safety and quality and effective communication and adoption of new knowledge information and technologies The agricultural sector worldwide faces numerous daunting challenges that will require innovations new technologies and new ways of approaching agriculture if the food feed and fiber needs of the global population are to be met The recommendations of Critical Role of Animal Science Research in Food Security and Sustainability will inform a new roadmap for animal science research to meet the challenges of sustainable animal production in the 21st century
