Development and Evaluation of a Calibration and Validation Procedure for Microscopic Simulation Models

Brian Park, 2004 Microscopic traffic simulation models have been widely accepted and applied in transportation engineering and planning practice for the past decades because simulation is cost effective safe and fast To achieve high fidelity and credibility for a traffic simulation model calibration and validation are of utmost importance Most calibration efforts reported in the literature have focused on the informal practice with a specific simulation model but seldom did they propose a systematic procedure or guideline for simulation model calibration and validation The purpose of this study was to develop and evaluate a procedure for microscopic simulation model calibration and validation Three widely used microscopic traffic simulation models VISSIM PARAMICS and CORSIM were selected for model review and practice of model calibration and validation The validity of the proposed procedure was evaluated and demonstrated via two case studies including an actuated signalized intersection and a 5 mile freeway segment with a lane closure work zone The simulation results were compared against the field data to determine the performance of the calibrated models The proposed procedure yielded acceptable results for all applications thus confirming that it was effective for the different networks and simulation models used in the study Although the calibrated parameters generated the performance measures that were representative of the field conditions the simulation results of the default parameters were significantly different from the field data Handbook on

Mobile and Ubiquitous Computing Laurence T. Yang, Evi Syukur, Seng W. Loke, 2016-04-19 Written for those familiar with the basics and active in the area of mobile and ubiquitous computing this volume contains papers that aid in understanding key issues and problems being tackled in the field This text illustrates the design implementation and deployment of mobile and ubiquitous systems particularly on mobile and ubiquitous environments concepts modeling database components and wireless infrastructures It discusses new trends towards intelligent systems that aim to create software systems and discusses sensory input and multimedia information The chapters also cover security privacy and trust Synchro Studio 7

James French,2006 Evaluation of Traffic Signal Timing Optimization Methods Using a Stochastic and Microscopic Simulation Program Byungkyu Park,J. D. Schneeberger,2003 This study evaluated existing traffic signal optimization programs including Synchro TRANSYT 7F and genetic algorithm optimization using real world data collected in Virginia As a first step a microscopic simulation model VISSIM was extensively calibrated and validated using field data Multiple simulation runs were then made for signal timing plans such that drivers behavior day to day traffic variation etc were considered in the evaluation Finally long term demand growth or changes were statistically modeled and evaluated again using multiple simulation runs Five timing plans were evaluated using the simulation test bed The timing plans under evaluation included 1 the former timing plan of the Virginia Department of Transportation VDOT 2 VDOT s current timing plan 3 the genetic algorithm optimized timing plan 4 the Synchro optimized timing plan and 5 the TRANSYT 7F optimized timing plan The simulation study results indicated that the current practice of VDOT s current signal optimization procedure significantly improved upon its former one by reducing travel times by 17% and total system delay by 36% The three optimized timing plans did not provide significant improvements Evaluation of the Lee Jackson Memorial Highway network showed that the current VDOT signal optimization procedure significantly improved the performance of network operations Thus the study recommended that VDOT continue using its procedure for developing new timing plans but that it evaluate its signal timing plan regularly so that it does not become outdated AAA Road Improvement Demonstration Program Jeffrey S.
