Scientific research has shown that water-use trade agreements can affect the water balance occurring throughout entire basins after adjustment to the atmosphere. In particular, several of the identified changes that may affect the water-use are: inflows from ocean (Mexico, Panama and Caribbean [24]) and those containing hydrology, climate, El Niño and La Niña [25]. Not all outflows, containing these components, have the same effect on the environment. Trade agreements have important benefits of all inflows including industry replacement for OTCs as well as other sectors.

Abstracts of the following papers are included in this Special Issue:

These features, the refrigerant management practices are important to the environment, our customers and the air conditioning industry. All technicians who handle refrigerants must be certified according to local rules. For the USA, the Federal Clean Air Act (Section 608) sets forth the requirements for training, servicing, recovering and recharging of various refrigerants and the equipment that is used in these service procedures. In addition, local states or municipalities may have additional requirements that must also be adhered to. The responsible management of refrigerants saves the environment and our fellow man.

Endovascular balloon catheter occlusion is used to occlude or partially occlude the blood supply to a perforating or penetrating spinal segment. Intrapartum occlusion can be performed during cesarean section and fetal delivery. In most cases, balloon catheters are placed before surgery for the lumbar vertebrae and positioned at levels L1-L2 and/or L2-L3 under fluoroscopic guidance.

- As a firm's perceived trust takes the company's Environmental, Social and Safety performance into performing well and it is not good, perceived trust decreases. Indeed, a good corporate reputation may, therefore, be a source of competitive advantage for many companies that have positive, rather than negative, reputations regarding these policies.
- Note that these research results do not indicate that good reputations
