What Is Darwinism And Other Writings On Science And Religion:

What is Darwinism? Charles Hodge,1994 What Is Darwinism? Charles Hodge,2018-06-27 What is Darwinism by Charles Hodge This is a question which needs an answer Great confusion and diversity of opinion prevail as to the real views of the man whose writings have agitated the whole world scientific and religious If a man says he is a Darwinian many understand him to avow himself virtually an atheist while another understands him as saying that he adopts some harmless form of the doctrine of evolution This is a great evil It is obviously useless to discuss any theory until we are agreed as to what that theory is The question therefore What is Darwinism must take precedence of all discussion of its merits The great fact of experience is that the universe exists The great problem which has ever pressed upon the human mind is to account for its existence What was its origin To what causes are the changes we witness around us to be referred As we are a part of the universe these questions concern ourselves What are the origin nature and destiny of man Professor Huxley is right in saying The question of questions for mankind the problem which underlies all others and is more interesting than any other is the ascertainment of the place which Man occupies in nature and of his relation to the universe of things Whence our race has come what are the limits of our power over nature and of nature s power over us to what goal are we tending are the problems which present themselves anew and with undiminished interest to every man born into the world Mr Darwin undertakes to answer these questions He proposes a solution of the problem which thus deeply concerns every living man Darwinism is therefore a theory of the universe at least so far as the living organisms on this earth are concerned This being the case it may be well to state in few words the other prevalent theories on this great subject that the points of agreement and of difference between them and the views of Mr Darwin may be the more clearly seen We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience

Evangelicals and Science in Historical Perspective David N. Livingstone,Darryl G. Hart,Mark A. Noll,1999
Comprising papers by such distinguished scholars as John Headley Brooke James R Moore Ronald Numbers and George Marsden this collection shows that questions of science have been central to evangelical history in the United States as well as in Britain and Canada Evolution, Scripture, and Science B. B. Warfield,2019-09-10 Are naturalistic and Christian creation irreconcilable ideologies In this collection of B B Warfield s writings editors Mark A Noll and David N Livingstone demonstrate that theologians have not always thought so Around the turn of the twentieth century Princeton theologian B B Warfield believed that synthesizing his commitment to the scientific validity of evolution and to the inerrancy of the Bible was an attainable theological task By drawing reasonable distinctions among Darwinism Charles Darwin and evolution he was able to accept the probability of evolution while denying the implications of full blown Darwinism In the realm of inerrancy and evolution Warfield s writings exemplify civil Christian scholarship and shrewd scientific discernment The editors have carefully gleaned Warfield s writings on evolution and inerrancy from theological essays book reviews lectures and historical papers Editorial headnotes introduce the reader to each article s context and content However the editors let Warfield s articles speak for themselves and inform the contemporary dialogue between science and theology Referring to the current debate the editors concur that One way of jolting discussion about science and theology out of the fervent but also intellectually barren stand offs of recent decades is to note one of the best kept secrets in American intellectual history B B Warfield

Asian Religious Responses to Darwinism C. Mackenzie Brown,2020-12-17 This volume brings together diverse Asian religious perspectives to address critical issues in the encounter between tradition and modern western evolutionary thought Such thought encompasses the biological theories of Charles Darwin Jean Baptiste Lamarck Earnest Haeckel Thomas Huxley and later neo Darwinians as well as the more sociological evolutionary theories of thinkers such as Herbert Spencer Pyotr Kropotkin and Henri Bergson The essays in this volume cover responses from Hindu Jain Buddhist Chinese Japanese and Indo Tibetan Confucian Daoist and Muslim traditions These responses come from the decades immediately after publication of The Origin of Species up to the present with attention being paid to earlier perspectives and teachings within a tradition that have affected responses to Darwinism and western evolutionary thought in general The book focuses on three critical issues the struggle for survival and the moral implications read into it genetic variation and its seeming randomness as related to the problems of meaning and purpose and the nature of humankind and human exceptionalism Each essay deals with one or more of the three issues within the context of a specific tradition
