Wellingtons Highlanders Men At Arms:

Wellington's Specialist Troops Philip Haythornthwaite, 2012-06-20 The specialist troops of Wellington's army played a crucial role in the success of the British Army. Though often understaffed and ineptly managed, the artillery, engineers, transport and commissariat and medical services contributed to Wellington's ultimate victory in 1815. The Royal Artillery and Corps of Royal Engineers comprised a small number of highly trained officers, while the commissariat was composed of untrained civilians outside military discipline and the medical services suffered from a shortage of trained surgeons. This richly illustrated book examines the organization, uniforms and equipment of each of these specialist departments.

Wellington's Dutch Allies 1815 Ronald Pawly, 2012-03-20 A concise illustrated study of the Netherlands troops that fought at Quatre Bras and Waterloo. The forces commanded by the Duke of Wellington at Quatre Bras and Waterloo included two infantry divisions and three cavalry brigades of the newly unified Dutch-Belgian army of the Kingdom of the Netherlands, mostly led by veteran officers who had served under Napoleon. The part played by these troops, particularly in holding the vital crossroads of Quatre Bras at the insistence of their own commanders, has often been unjustly dismissed by British commentators. In this book, the history, organisation, uniforms and battle record of the Dutch units of this army are explained and illustrated in detail by two experienced researchers in Continental archives and accompanied by many rare portraits as well as meticulous colour plates.

Wellington's Belgian Allies 1815 Ronald Pawly, 2012-03-20 The army commanded by the Duke of Wellington at Quatre Bras and Waterloo included two infantry divisions and three cavalry brigades of the newly unified Netherlands or Dutch-Belgian army. The part played by these troops in the two battles under experienced officers, many of whom had seen long service in Napoleon's campaigns, has often been unjustly dismissed by British commentators. The organisation, uniforms and battle record of the Belgian units are explained here in detail by an experienced researcher in Continental archives and illustrated by a specialist in the period who actually lives at Waterloo.

Wellington's Highlanders Stuart Reid, 1992-11-26 Ultimately, regiments are judged by their behaviour in battle and highlanders have always had a reputation as stormers, as exemplified by the impetuous charge of the Gordons at Waterloo intermingled with the Scots Greys. This reputation probably resulted at least in part from an unusually close bonding between officers and men and an assumption that highlanders were natural soldiers, possessed of an impetuous spirit and temperamentally more inclined to use the bayonet. Complemented by many illustrations, including eight full-page colour plates by Bryan Fosten, Stuart Reid's engaging text examines the uniforms and organisation of Wellington's Highlanders.

Infantry, 1993 Wellington's Men Remembered Volume 2 Janet Bromley, David Bromley, 2020-01-31 Wellington's Men Remembered is a reference work which has been compiled on behalf of the Association of Friends of the Waterloo Committee and contains over 3,000 memorials to soldiers who fought in the Peninsular War and at Waterloo between 1808 and 1815, together with 150 battlefield and regimental memorials in 24 countries worldwide.

The King's German Legion (1) Mike Chappell, 2000 The formation of the King's German Legion resulted from the occupation of Hanover their homeland by the French in 1803. After assorted expeditions including Copenhagen in 1807 and Moore's retreat to Corunna the Legion joined Sir Arthur Wellesley in the Peninsula. It was here that they were to earn undying renown as the crack corps of Wellington's army. The Legion represented about 20% of Wellington's fighting strength and distinguished itself in all the major actions including their famous charge at Garcia Hernandez during the Salamanca campaign 1812 which was fought during the Peninsular War 1808-1814.

Wellington's men, some soldier autobiogr., ed. by W.H. Fitchett William Henry Fitchett, 1900 The King's German Legion (2) Mike Chappell, 2000. This title is the completion of a two part study of the King's German Legion the largest and most respected of the foreign corps which fought as integrated elements of the British Army during the Napoleonic Wars 1799-1815. The light and heavy cavalry, light and line infantry and horse and foot artillery of the KGL made major contributions to Wellington's victories in the latter part of the Peninsular War 1808-1814 and several units covered themselves with glory at Waterloo. Drawing upon new research in British and Hanoverian archival sources Mike Chappell's detailed text and meticulous illustrations offer unprecedented details of this impressive fighting organisation. Wellington's Men, Some Soldier Autobiographies William Henry Fitchett, 1900 Whitaker's Books in Print, 1998 Journal of the Society for Army Historical Research Society for Army Historical Research (London, England), 1994 On the Road with Wellington August Ludolf Friedrich Schaumann, 1924. August Schaumann was a natural born storyteller. He describes his Peninsular adventures so vividly that you get the feeling that you are there riding next to him dodging French cavalry patrols and conquering the hearts and bodies of Spanish and Portuguese ladies. But who was August Schaumann? He was born in Hanover in 1778. At the age of 16 he was compelled to join the army against his will but he eventually rose through the ranks to the rank of junior subaltern. In 1799 his father a severe and harsh man removed his son from the army and procured him a position at the postal service. In 1803 he left his home in Hanover and proceeded to England where he was employed as a clerk at a Newcastle firm. In 1807 he decided to move to Russia. He never made it there because heavy storms forced him to take refuge in Goteborg Sweden. Here too he found a brief employment as a clerk. When the English fleet sailed back to England after its Swedish expedition in 1808 August boarded one of its ships and was taken to England to start a new career as war commissary in the King's German Legion. On the 28th August 1808 August Schaumann set foot on the shores of Maceira Bay in Portugal. From here on he tells us in great detail and in a style that captivates the reader about his Peninsular adventures. As a war commissary Schaumann saw, did and lived it all. Not only does he tell us about his perilous and difficult duties as a commissary but he also tells us about his numerous romantic adventures and about life in Spanish and Portuguese billets. Because he was a keen observer and a great storyteller he was able to describe some of the great battles of the Peninsular War and the invasion of France in 1814. He also describes the gruesome retreat from Coruna, the endless marches and counter marches and the hardships that the common soldiers had to endure in a way that puts you the reader right in the middle of it August ended his military career in 1816 and returned to his native town of Hanover where he obtained a post as civil servant He died in 1840 I have enjoyed these memoirs very much Not only because they give a very precise and clear picture of the military operations that Schaumann was involved in but also and foremost because they give an insight into aspects of the Napoleonic Wars that dont get much attention in other memoirs I am referring to the logistic problems that all Napoleonic and in particular the British army faced in those days and how the civilian population of Spain and Portugal lived and coped during this dark period of their history
