Health Culture, 1918 Revolutions that Made the Earth Tim Lenton, Andrew Watson, 2013-04-11 The Earth that sustains us today was born out of a few remarkable near catastrophic revolutions started by biological innovations and marked by global environmental consequences The revolutions have certain features in common such as an increase in complexity energy utilization and information processing by life This book describes these revolutions showing the fundamental interdependence of the evolution of life and its non living environment We would not exist unless these upheavals had led eventually to successful outcomes meaning that after each one at length a new stable world emerged The current planet reshaping activities of our species may be the start of another great Earth system revolution but there is no guarantee that this one will be successful The book explains what a successful transition through it might look like if we are wise enough to steer such a course This book places humanity in context as part of the Earth system using a new scientific synthesis to illustrate our debt to the deep past and our potential for the future
