Ali Saleem, 2017-07-11 This book argues that Islam's role in state nationalism is the best predictor of the Islamization of government using two most different cases Turkey which was an aggressively secular country until recently and Pakistan a country that is synonymous with Islamization It establishes a causal link between Islam's role in state nationalism and Islamization of government during various periods of the history of both countries The indicators used to establish the causal link between Islam's role in state nationalism and Islamization are the presence of Islamic provisions in the constitution Islam inspired national symbols Islamic images on the national currency Islamic basis of family law a Department of Religious Affairs and governmental support for religious education The book concludes by identifying three causal mechanisms legitimacy mobilization and authenticity that link Islam's role in state nationalism and the Islamization of government projects that embodied for apartheid officials the pursuit of modernisation but carried latent apprehensions of Afrikaners about their growing economic prospects and cultural estrangement in Africa It is a less known and marginal story due to the dearth of material and documents buried in archives and untranslated documents Many of the documents drawings and photographs in the book are unpublished and include classified material and photographs from the National Nuclear Research Centre negatives of 1960s from Pretoria News and documents and pamphlets from Afrikaner Broederbond archives State architecture became the most iconic public manifestation of an evolving expression of white cultural identity as a new generation of architects in Pretoria took up the challenge of finding form to their prospects and beliefs It was an opportunistic faith in Afrikaners who urgently needed to entrench their vulnerable and contested position on the African continent The shift from provincial town to apartheid capital was swift and relentless Little was left to stand in the way of the ambitions and aim of the state as people were uprooted and forcibly relocated structures torn down and block upon block of administration towers and slabs erected across Pretoria This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of architectural history as well as those with an interest in postcolonial studies political science and social anthropology
