

The background of the cover is a photograph of a city skyline, likely New York City, viewed from across a body of water. The skyline features several prominent buildings, including a tall, thin skyscraper on the right. The water in the foreground is dark and textured. The title text is overlaid on the upper portion of the image.

Urban Education With An Attitude:

Urban Education with an Attitude Lauri Johnson, Mary E. Finn, Rebecca Lewis, 2012-02-01 This book profiles local and national efforts to transform urban education and reinvent urban teacher preparation. It describes real programs in real urban schools that have developed policy initiatives that promote educational equity, community-based curricula, and teacher education and parent empowerment programs that emphasize democratic collaboration among universities, urban teachers, parents, and community members. By involving all stakeholders, this comprehensive approach provides a model for creating urban schools that not only excite and inspire but also serve as engines for social change. Contending that urban education reform will fail without public engagement and a commitment to social justice, the contributors challenge urban educators to become accountable to their students and the communities they serve.

Including Families and Communities in Urban Education Catherine Hands, Lea Hubbard, 2011-04-01 The work of school family and community partnerships is complex and messy and demands a thoughtful and deep investigation. Currently, parent and community involvement does not draw on school reform and educational change literature, and conversely, the school change literature often ignores the crucial role that communities play in educational reform. This edited volume focuses on structural considerations regarding education and the school communities, school level, and family culture and the interrelationships between the agency and actions of school personnel, family members, community citizens, and students. This book extends the dialogue on school reform by looking at parent and community engagement initiatives as part of the school reform literature. The contributors illustrate the negative impact on students and their education when assumptions made by school personnel regarding the organization of education, the nature of families, and the contributions they should make to their children's education are not challenged.

Second International Handbook of Urban Education William T. Pink, George W. Noblit, 2017-01-06 This second handbook offers all new content in which readers will find a thoughtful and measured interrogation of significant contemporary thinking and practice in urban education. Each chapter reflects contemporary cutting edge issues in urban education as defined by their local context. One important theme that runs throughout this handbook is how urban is defined and under what conditions the marginalized are served by the schools they attend. Schooling continues to hold a special place both as a means to achieve social mobility and as a mechanism for supporting the economy of nations. This second handbook focuses on factors such as social stratification, segmentation, segregation, racialization, urbanization, class formation, and maintenance, and patriarchy. The central concern is to explore how equity plays out for those traditionally marginalized in urban schools in different locations around the globe. Researchers will find an analysis framework that will make the current practice and outcomes of urban education and their alternatives more transparent, and in turn, this will lead to solutions that can help improve the life options for students historically underserved by urban schools.

The Praeger Handbook of Urban Education Philip M. Anderson, Kecia Hayes, Joe Kincheloe, Karel Rose, 2006-03-30 Maintaining that urban teaching and learning is characterized by many contradictions this work proposes that there is a wide range of social cultural psychological and pedagogical knowledge urban educators must possess in order to engage in effective and transformative practice It is necessary for those teaching in urban schools to be scholar practitioners rather than bureaucrats who can only follow rather than analyze understand and create Ten major sections cover the myriad issues of urban education as it exists today
