WAYWARD WOMEN: SEXUALITY AND AGENCY IN A NEW GUINEA SOCIETY. HOLLY. WARDLOW, 2021 Wives and Wanderers in a New Guinea Highlands Society Marie Olive Reay, 2022-01-18

Wives and Wanderers in a New Guinea Highlands Society brings to the reader anthropologist Marie Reay's field research from the 1950s and 1960s on women's lives in the Wahgi Valley Central Highlands of Papua New Guinea. Dramatically written, each chapter adds to the main story that Reay wanted to tell: contrasting young girls' freedom to court and choose partners with the constraints and violence they were to experience as married women. This volume provides readable ethnographic material for undergraduate courses in whole or in part. It will be of interest to students and scholars of gender relations, anthropology, and feminism in Melanesia and the Pacific. The material in this book, which Reay had written by 1965 but never published, remains startlingly contemporary and relevant. Marie Olive Reay was a social anthropologist who did research in Australian Indigenous communities and in the Wahgi Valley in the Central Highlands of Papua New Guinea. Employed at The Australian National University from 1959 to 1988 when she retired, Reay passed away in 2004. In 2011, this manuscript was found in her personal papers, reconstructed and edited by Francesca Merlan, augmented here by an additional introduction by eminent anthropologist of the Highlands and of gender, Marilyn Strathern. Had this manuscript appeared when Reay apparently completed it in its present form around 1965, it would have been the first published ethnography of women's lives in the Central Highlands of Papua New Guinea. Its retrieval from Reay's papers and availability now adds a new dimension to works on gender relations in Melanesian societies and to the history of Australian and Pacific anthropology.

Intimacies William R. Jankowiak, 2008-02-18 No culture is ever completely successful or satisfied with its synthesis of romantic love companionship and sexual desire Whether the setting is a busy metropolis or a quiet farming village a tension always exists between a community's sexual habits and customs and what it believes to be the proper context for love Even in Western societies we prefer sexual passion to romance and companionship and no study of any culture has shown that individuals regard passion and affection equally The pursuit of love and sex has generated an infinite number of ambiguities and contradictions yet every community hopes to find a resolution to this conflict either by joining dividing or stressing one act over the other In this follow up to Romantic Passion A Universal Experience William R Jankowiak examines how different cultures rationalize the expression of passionate and comfort love and physical sex He begins by mapping out the intricacies of the love sex conundrum and the psychological dilemma of reconciling these competing forces He then follows with essays on sex love and intimacy among Central African foragers and farmers the love dyad in Lithuania intimacy among the Lahu of Southwestern China the interplay of love sex and marriage in the High Himalayas verbalized experiences of love and sexuality in Indonesia love work as it relates to sex work among prostitutes intimacies and estrangements in the marital and extramarital relationships of Huli men infidelity and masculinity in Southwestern Nigeria and the ritual of sex and the rejuvenation of the love bond among married couples in the United States

Foodways and Empathy Anita von Poser, 2013-07-01 Through the sharing of food people feel entitled to inquire into one another's lives and ponder one another's states in relation to their foodways This in depth study focuses on the Bosmun of Daiden a Ramu River people in an under represented area in the ethnography of Papua New Guinea uncovering the conceptual convergence of local notions of relatedness foodways and empathy In weaving together discussions about paramount values as passed on through myth the expression of feelings in daily life and the bodily experience of social and physical environs a life world unfolds in which moral emotional and embodied foodways contribute notably to the creation of relationships Concerned with unique processes of making kin the book adds a distinct case to recent debates about relatedness and empathy and sheds new light onto the conventional anthropological themes of food production sharing and exchange

Shifting States Alison Dundon, Richard Vokes, 2020-12-29 Shifting States draws on a rich history of anthropological theorising on all kinds of states from the pre to the post industrial and explores topics as diverse as bureaucracy infrastructure surveillance securitization and public health As we enter the third decade of the twentieth century there is a growing sense that the state is in crisis everywhere Although the nature of this perceived crisis varies from place to place everywhere it is seen to have been caused by some combination of the inter related forces of globalisation of successive economic shocks and of the rise of social media fuelled populist movements Yet conversely there is also a creeping perception that state power is becoming more pervasive in its reach and in its effects in ways which make it ever more imminent to the material worlds in which we live more fundamental to the ways in which we conceive of the future and more foundational to our very sense of self How might we try to make sense of and to mediate these apparently contradictory impressions Based on ethnographic case studies from all over the world this timely volume forges new ways of thinking about how state power manifests and is imagined and about the effects it has on ordinary people s lives In so doing the volume provides tools not only for understanding states responses to the COVID 19 pandemic but also for judging what effects these responses are likely to have
