Comparative Indo-European Linguistics Robert S.P. Beekes, 2011-10-18. This book gives a comprehensive introduction to Comparative Indo-European Linguistics. It starts with a presentation of the languages of the family from English and the other Germanic languages, the Celtic and Slavic languages, Latin, Greek, and Sanskrit, through Armenian and Albanian, and a discussion of the culture and origin of the Indo-Europeans, the speakers of the Indo-European proto language. The reader is introduced into the nature of language change and the methods of reconstruction of older language stages with many examples from the Indo-European languages. A full description is given of the sound changes which makes it possible to follow the origin of the different Indo-European languages step by step. This is followed by a discussion of the development of all the morphological categories of Proto Indo-European. The book presents the latest in scholarly insights like the laryngeal and glottalic theory, the accentuation, the ablaut patterns, and these are systematically integrated into the treatment. The text of this second edition has been corrected and updated by Michiel de Vaan. Sixty-six new exercises enable the student to practice the reconstruction of PIE phonology and morphology.

History of the English Language Isabel Verdaguer, Emilia Castaño Castaño, 2021. A Companion to Ancient Near Eastern Languages Rebecca Hasselbach-Andee, 2020-03-31. Covers the major languages, language families, and writing systems attested in the Ancient Near East. Filled with enlightening chapters by noted experts in the field, this book introduces Ancient Near Eastern (ANE) languages and language families used during the time period of roughly 3200 BCE to the second century CE in the areas of Egypt, the Levant, eastern Anatolia, Mesopotamia, and Iran. In addition to providing grammatical sketches of the respective languages, the book focuses on socio-linguistic questions such as language contact, diglossia, the development of literary standard languages, and the development of diplomatic languages or linguae francae. It also addresses the interaction of Ancient Near Eastern languages with each other and their roles within the political and cultural systems of ANE societies. Presented in five parts, The Companion to Ancient Near Eastern Languages provides readers with in-depth chapter coverage of the writing systems of ANE, starting with their decipherment. It looks at the emergence of cuneiform writing, the development of Egyptian writing in the fourth and early third millennium BCE, and the emergence of alphabetic scripts. The book also covers many of the individual languages themselves, including Sumerian, Egyptian, Akkadian, Hittite, Pre and Post Exilic Hebrew, Phoenician, Ancient South Arabian, and more. Provides an overview of all major language families and writing systems used in the Ancient Near East during the time period from the beginning of writing, approximately 3200 BCE, to the second century CE, end of cuneiform writing. Addresses how the individual languages interacted with each other and how they functioned in the societies that used them. Written by leading experts on the languages and topics. The Companion to
