We The Media Grassroots Journalism By The People For The People:

We the Media Dan Gillmor, 2004 We the Media is essential reading for all participants in the news cycle Citizen Journalism Stuart Allan, Einar Thorsen, 2009 Citizen Journalism Global Perspectives examines the spontaneous actions of ordinary people caught up in extraordinary events and compelled to adopt the role of a news reporter This collection of twenty one chapters investigates citizen journalism in the West including the United States United Kingdom Europe and Australia as well as its development in other national contexts around the globe including Brazil China India Iran Iraq Kenya Palestine South Korea Vietnam and even Antarctica Its aim is to assess the contribution of citizen journalism to crisis reporting and to encourage new forms of dialogue and debate about how it may be improved in the future The book contains contributions by Mark Deuze about The Future of Citizen Journalism and Paul Bradshaw about Wiki Journalism Media Literacy for Citizenship Kirsten Kozolanka, Paul Orlowski, 2018-08-22 Offering a critical perspective Media Literacy for Citizenship emphasizes the ability to analyze media messages as a fundamental component of engaged citizenship The ten chapters of this text are divided into two sections the first six chapters explore the landscape of the media today and each of the final four chapters examines how the media presents specific issues all of which are of vital importance to civil society Each chapter forms a mini lesson and encompasses three core elements an essay on a subject area important to critical media literacy a list of case examples that can be used for assignments and a list of key terms common to all chapters and cases The diverse topics of study and the rich pedagogy make this book a perfect resource for courses in communications journalism media studies and education Insights on Reporting Sports in the Digital Age Roger Domeneghetti, 2021-07-19 This first book in the Journalism Insights series examines the major practical and ethical challenges confronting contemporary sports journalists which have emerged from or been exacerbated by the use of digital and social media Combining both quantitative and qualitative research and contributions from industry experts in sports reporting across Europe America and Australia the collection offers a valuable look at the digital sports reporting industry today Issues discussed in the text include the ethical questions created by social media abuse received by sports journalists the impact of social media on narratives about gender and race and the silencing of journalists over the issue of trans athletes as well as the impact on traditional aspects of sports journalism such as the match report The book features first hand accounts from leading sports reporters and scholars about how these changes have affected the industry and sets out what best practice looks like in this field today This book will be a useful resource for scholars and students working in the fields of journalism media sports and communication as well as for current sports journalism practitioners interested in the future of a changing industry Social Media for Journalists Megan Knight, Clare Cook, 2013-05-22 Untangles the jargon and sets out the route map for how the social network can enable us to become major contributors to the multiplatform digital age The right message the right time this is the right book for taking advantage of it all Jon Snow Channel 4 News The essential guide to understanding and harnessing the tools of journalism today Meagan Knight and Clare Cook show you how to master the enduring rules of good practice and the new techniques of social media The book gives a thorough guide to principles and practice including How to find write and break stories with social media An online journalism toolkit to get you started Using crowdsourcing to find and follow stories Getting on top of user generated content The ins and outs of copyright and ethics Building your brand and making money The new economy of journalism and how to get ahead More than a simple how to guide this book takes you to the next level with its integration of theory and practice It is a one stop guide for students and practitioners of journalism

Media Imagery and Political Choice Laura Ann Granka, 2011 The research presented in this manuscript contrasts a text only and graphical display of news to assess the personal and environmental factors affecting news preferences This research was conducted in two stages First an online experiment and survey of 1 000 participants assessed the effects of political attitudes personal demographics and visual cues on news selection behaviors Second an eyetracking study evaluated the ocular and cognitive behaviors associated with the processing of each news display Analyses specifically examined which factors influence i an individual s preferences for hard and soft news ii an individual s preferences for specific news sources and iii how stable or susceptible to change these preferences are over time Results indicate that visual design political attitudes and personal demographics all affect the type of news and source selected Specifically a graphical news layout encourages the selection of soft news categories though this is moderated by education A graphical layout also enables more repeat selections to the same source Furthermore eyetracking shows that a graphical news format produces lower levels of attention and cognitive processing Broader implications for the future of news display and news acquisition are discussed

Media and Society in Networked China Jack Linchuan Qiu, 2018-01-09 This is a collection of seven essays on media and society in China translated from the leading Chinese language journal Open Times Authored mostly by scholars based in China this volume offers a panoramic view on contemporary Chinese thoughts regarding media industries in a rapidly transforming society especially the central role played by digital media such as Internet and smart phone The book consists of three parts a socialist media transformed b critical events and public interests and c Internet grassroots and social movements Together they reflect a wide range of views left right and center on the past present and future of media reform and social transformation in China today

Citizen Media and Public Spaces Mona Baker, Bolette B. Blaagaard, 2016-06-10 Citizen Media and Public Spaces presents a pioneering exploration of citizen media as a highly interdisciplinary domain that raises vital political social and ethical issues relating to conceptions of citizenship and state boundaries the construction of publics and social imaginaries processes of co optation and reverse co optation power and resistance the ethics of witnessing and solidarity and novel responses to the democratic deficit Framed by a substantial introduction by the editors the twelve contributions to the volume interrogate the concept of citizen media theoretically and empirically and offer detailed case studies that extend from the UK to Russia and Bulgaria and from China to Denmark and the liminal spaces within which a growing number of refugees now live A rich new domain of scholarship and practice emerges out of the studies presented Citizen media is shown to embrace both physical and digital interventions in public space as well as the sets of values and agendas that influence and drive the practices and discourses through which individuals and collectives position themselves within and in relation to society and participate in the creation of diverse publics This book will be of interest to students and researchers in media and communication studies particularly those studying citizen media media and society journalism and society and political communication Cover image courtesy of Ruben Hamelink Media Influence: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information breaking news events is crucial to reportage. It offers an evaluation of how photojournalism is evolving in digital contexts examining how today's emergent forms of co-operation, collaboration and connectivity between professional and amateur news photographers promise to improve photojournalism for tomorrow. This book was originally published as two special issues in Digital Journalism and Journalism Practice. Media Activism in the Digital Age Victor Pickard, Guobin Yang, 2017-07-06. Media Activism in the Digital Age captures an exciting moment in the evolution of media activism studies and offers an invaluable guide to this vibrant and evolving field of research. Victor Pickard and Guobin Yang have assembled essays by leading scholars and activists to provide case studies of feminist technological and political interventions during different historical periods and at local, national and global levels. Looking at the underlying theories, histories, politics, ideologies, tactics, strategies and aesthetics, the book takes an expansive view of media activism. It explores how varieties of activism are mediated through communication technologies, how activists deploy strategies for changing the structures of media systems and how governments and corporations seek to police media activism. From memes to zines, hacktivism to artivism, this volume considers activist practices involving both older kinds of media and newer digital, social and network-based forms. Media Activism in the Digital Age provides a useful cross-section of this growing field for both students and researchers.

Sharing News Online Fiona Martin, Tim Dwyer, 2019-07-16. This book explores the political economics and cultural politics of social media news sharing, investigating how it is changing journalism and the news media internationally. News sharing plays important economic and cultural roles in an attention economy, recommending the stories audiences find valuable, making them more visible and promoting the digital platforms that are reshaping our media ecologies. But is news sharing a force for democracy or a sign of journalism's declining power to set news agendas? In Sharing News Online, Tim Dwyer and Fiona Martin analyse the growth of commentary culture and the business of social news, critique the rise of news analytics and dissect virality online. They reveal that surprisingly we share political stories more highly than celebrity news and they probe how deeply affect drives our sharing behaviour. In mapping the contours of a critical digital media phenomenon, this book makes essential reading for scholars, journalists and media executives.

Political Communication in Postmodern Democracy K. Brants, K. Voltmer, 2011-01-05. This edited collection examines the changing faces of political communication in contemporary democracy. Based on comparative investigations of recent trends in the Netherlands and Great Britain, the essays provide fresh insights and new empirical evidence into the public representation of media-centred politics.

Ethics for Digital Journalists Lawrie Zion, David Craig, 2014-08-27. The rapid growth of online media has led to new complications in journalism ethics and practice. While traditional ethical principles may not fundamentally change when information is disseminated online, applying them across platforms has become more challenging as new kinds of interactions develop between journalists and audiences. In Ethics for Digital Journalists, Lawrie Zion and David Craig draw together the international expertise and experience of journalists and scholars who have all been part of the process of shaping best practices in digital journalism Drawing on contemporary events and controversies like the Boston Marathon bombing and the Arab Spring the authors examine emerging best practices in everything from transparency and verification to aggregation collaboration live blogging tweeting and the challenges of digital narratives At a time when questions of ethics and practice are challenged and subject to intense debate this book is designed to provide students and practitioners with the insights and skills to realize their potential as professionals

The Media and The Public Stephen Coleman, Karen Ross, 2010-02-04 The Media and the Public explores the ways a range of media from the press to television to the Internet have constructed and represented the public Provides a new synthesis of recent research exploring the relationship between media and their publics Identifies ways in which different publics are subverting the gatekeeping of mainstream media in order to find a voice and communicate with others Situates contemporary media public discourse and relationships in an historical context in order to show the origin of contemporary public political engagement Creates a theoretical expansion on the role of the media in accessing or denying the articulation of public voices and the ways in which publics are harnessing new media formats to produce richer and more complex forms of political engagement

Fictional Representations of (Un)ethical

Journalistic Practices in Graham Greene's Work Beatriz Valverde, 2024-12-13 British author Graham Greene pursued a professional career as a journalist before becoming a full time writer After that he continued taking on reporting assignments as a correspondent for a variety of publications Greene knew the profession inside out and the role of the media in shaping the public's views through information gathering and dissemination a topic insufficiently researched by criticism was among his main concerns Greene's fictional work features an array of journalists and the representation of unethical practices of the profession is a constant reference in his narrative In this book I intend to fill this research gap in Greenian studies focusing on three main topics the author's reflection on the journalistic practice in connection with the classic paradigm of objectivity versus empathy his questioning of the misuse of power when gathering and disseminating information by journalists editors and news corporation owners and finally the relationship between journalists and their readership's expectations as well as the importance of fostering critical readers that make informed trustworthy decisions regarding journalism performance
