The Sexual Subject Mandy Merck, 2013-11-05 The Sexual Subject brings together writing on sexuality which has appeared in Screen over the past two decades It reflects the journal's continuing engagement with questions of sexuality and signification in the cinema an engagement which has had a profound influence on the development of the academic study of film and on alternative film and video practice The collection opens with Laura Mulvey's classic Visual Pleasure and Narrative Cinema with its conjunction of semiotics and psychoanalysis the critical approach which is most closely associated with Screen's rise to international prominence The reader then goes on to explore the particular questions and debates which that conjunction provoked arguments around pornography and the representation of the body questions of the representation of femininity and masculinity of the female spectator and of the social subject Many of the writings in this Reader have become indispensable texts within the study of film The purpose of the Reader is not only to make the articles available to a wider readership and to a new generation but also to pose new conjunctions making connections in one volume between debates and inquiries which spanned two crucial decades of film theory The Sexual Subject is intended not only for all those with a particular interest in film and film theory but for anyone with a serious commitment to cultural theory theories of representation and questions of sexuality and gender

What Women Want Maxine Mei-Fung Chung, 2023-09-19 A profound and intimate exploration of female desire and identity as studied through the lives of seven female therapy patients by award winning psychotherapist Maxine

Mei Fung Chung Sigmund Freud once said The great question that has never been answered and which I have not yet been able to answer despite my thirty years of research into the feminine soul is What does a woman want Through the relatable and moving stories of seven very different women Maxine Mei Fung Chung refutes this inscrutability and sheds light on our most fundamental needs and desires From a young bride to be struggling to accept her sexuality to a mother grappling with questions of identity and belonging and a woman learning to heal after years of trauma What Women Want is an electrifying and deeply intimate exploration into the inner lives of women Based on hours of conversations between Maxine and her patients this book lays bare our fears hopes secrets and capacity for healing With great empathy and precision What Women Want presents a fearless look into the depths of who we are so that we can better understand each other and ourselves To desire is an action This extraordinary book liberates and empowers us to claim what we truly want Crafting the Witch Heidi Breuer,2009-05-05 How did the witch become wicked This is the central question of Crafting the Witch which documents and analyzes the gendered transformation of magical figures that occurred in Arthurian romance as it developed from its earliest continental manifestations in the twelfth century to its flowering in fifteenth and sixteenth century England

Sex, Violence and Crime Adrian Howe,2009-01-21 What happens when you sex violent crimes More specifically what happens when you make men s violence against women the subject of a conversation or the focus of scholarly attention The short answer is all hell breaks loose Adrian Howe explores some of the ways in which this persistent and pervasive form of violence has been named and unnamed as a significant social problem in western countries over the past four decades Addressing what she calls the Man question so named because it pays attention to the discursive place occupied or more usually vacated by men in accounts of their violence against women she explores what happens when that violence is placed on the criminological and political agenda Written in a theoretically informed yet accessible style Sex Violence and Crime Foucault and the Man Question provides a novel and highly original approach to questions of sex and violence in contemporary western society Directed at criminologists students and more widely at anyone interested in these issues it challenges readers to come to grips with postmodern feminist reconceptualisations of the fraught relationship between sex violence and crime in order to better combat men s violence against women and children What Women Want--What Men Want John Marshall Townsend,1998-04-23 What Women Want What Men Want offers compelling new evidence about the real reasons behind men s and women s differing sexual psychologies and sheds new light on what men and women look for in a mate the predicament of marriage in the modern world the relation between sex and emotion and many other hotly debated questions John Townsend draws on 2000 questionnaires and extensive quotations from 200 intimate interviews to show how deep seated desires and emotions guide our actions in dating sexual relationships and marriage Townsend argues against the politically correct belief that differences in sexual behavior are culturally constructed and shows that these differences are universal and rooted in our evolutionary past In a fascinating series of experiments men and women were asked to indicate preferences for potential mates based on their attractiveness and apparent economic status Women preferred expensively dressed men to more attractive but apparently less successful men and men chose more attractive women regardless of their professional status Townsend also found that men are inclined to value casual sexual relations whereas women cannot easily separate sexual relations from the need for emotional attachment and economic security Lucidly and accessibly written What Women Want What Men Want brings new clarity to one of the most intractable debates of our time Film Noir
