

The background of the book cover is a vibrant, detailed illustration of an underwater coral reef. In the upper left, a sea turtle swims towards the right, with its internal organs, including a large, reddish-brown stomach, visible through a transparent section of its shell. In the center, a shark swims towards the right, also with its internal organs visible. To the right of the shark, a manta ray swims towards the left, with its internal organs visible. In the foreground, a large, orange-brown horseshoe crab is positioned on the left, with its internal organs visible. To its right, a large, purple sea urchin is visible. Further right, a red starfish is visible. In the bottom right corner, a yellowish-orange fish is visible. The water is a deep blue, and the coral and other marine life are in various shades of purple, green, and orange.
