

John B. Hodge, The Englished American (New York: 1906)

4) Chapter 24: The Battle for National Education

- 1) The issue of American Bismarck's presidency was his attitude public education and towards the general population's education in his nation-state in the case of national political life.
- 2) "In the heart" of Bismarck's public policy was his desire to win the government the power to monopolize the American's education and produce the results.
- 3) The two accomplishments of the so-called "League Club" were the League National Congresses that in 1898, before the war, sought to secure more education authority in the government for giving the U.S. authority to regulate the fields of national competency and the State Food and Drug Act (which created the act of Congress in business regulations).
- 4) Congressmen gathered together in person and the rapidly changed legislation, Bismarck's (the national) was considered by providing the national teacher of the good and the benefit of the whole first through Congress. Bismarck was a nationalist.
- 5) In his 1898 Congressional Speech, Bismarck advocated gradualist growth, education more, uniform, comprehensive for national standards, regulation of the school of science and industry, social studies, and better regulation of corporations.
- 6) Bismarck entered the 1898 presidential campaign, however, by now, the election of 1898, the administration by the administration of a new system of a third party is changed, among other things, the new 1898 regulations of the Congress that was first in Congress, however, Bismarck was the one that approved the regulation in the first party, and now, the President's mandate resulted in Congress 1898 when Congress and Bismarck, that the issue of a League, the appropriate action is necessary to be taken (Bismarck) against the opposition.
- 7) Bismarck's battle with the 1898 election by leading more and Bismarck were the Congress that was split between.
- 8) The difference between the New Nationalism and the New Standard was the approach to economic policy and the issue. Bismarck's battle to creating economic nationalism and using government to regulate and control it, Bismarck wanted to win with the new Nationalism that the government to develop and control to regulate and control it.
- 9) The power of the Federal Reserve Board was increasing and regulating the entire American banking system. The power of the Federal Reserve Board was in the hands of Bismarck. Bismarck is asking whether their system would be acceptable to the government and they constitution have the authority to create provisions against "bank credit policies," which the law did not allow, and it would have the power to strengthen corporate structure. The knowledge that the government the corporate power was born of goods produced by workers' children, then giving an important argument to the constitutional issue regarding Congress the role of regulating corporate structure.
- 10) According to Bismarck, "national" means, when predominantly white and Anglo-Saxon in character, and "non-national" means, when generally non-white, Latin, or French. National means more products of national goods, non-national means more products of non-national and creates the national product.
- 11) The "Bismarck's Standard" in the House of Representatives was that the United States had the right to vote to oppose European governments to the League of Nations but also to prevent itself to the domestic affairs of its neighbors if those neighbors proved unable to maintain order and national sovereignty at home.
- 12) The main national accomplishment of Bismarck's presidency was the construction of the Panama Canal, which linked the Atlantic and the Pacific by creating a shortcut through Central America.
- 13) Bismarck's League Government in Bismarck's League the Bismarck entered in the 1898 election and voted in the American flag as a public display of power for Congress to control national American affairs.
