Short, Lydia Turner, Alec Grant, 2013-11-19 This engaging informative book makes an exciting contribution to current discussions about the challenges and uses of contemporary autoethnography Authors from a range of disciplines show and tell us how they have created autoethnographies demonstrating a rich blend of theories ethical research practices and performances of identities and voice linking all of those with the socio cultural forces that impact and shape the person The book will be a useful resource for new and experienced researchers academics who teach and supervise post graduate students and practitioners in social science who are seeking meaningful ways to conduct research This should be required reading for all qualitative research training Diffraction Ethnography Jessica Smartt Gullion, 2018-04-30 Across intellectual disciplines the ontological turn is restructuring how we think about our relationships with the natural world Influenced by the seemingly disparate realms of indigenous philosophy and quantum physics the turn invites us to think about intra actions and assemblages of human and nonhuman entities This raises epistemological questions about how we know about the world and spotlights some of the problems with how we currently do conventional social science research Diffraction Ethnography invites social scientists to consider alternate methodologies that account for the complexity of human behavior situated in larger environmental contexts For both novice and experienced researchers this thought provoking book opens new ways of thinking about methodology and raises questions about the ethical and justice orientations of our work Disclosing

Childhoods Spyros Spyrou, 2018-04-17 Disclosing Childhoods offers a critical account of knowledge production in childhood studies. The book argues for the need to be reflexive about the knowledge practices of the field and to scrutinize the role of researchers in disclosing certain childhoods rather than others. A relational lens is used to critique the ongoing fixation of childhood studies with the unitary child agent and to re-introduce the question of ontology in knowledge production. The author provides a critical account of childhood studies trajectory as well as exploring the key concepts of voice agency and participation illustrating the potential of a reflexive stance towards knowledge production. Drawing on poststructuralist and posthumanist thinking each of these concepts is critiqued for its conceptual limits while productive avenues are offered to reconfigure their utility. Spyrou also addresses the ethics and politics of knowledge production and considers key emerging insights which can contribute towards the development of a more reflexive and critical childhood studies. Students and scholars across a range of disciplines including childhood studies anthropology sociology and geography will find this book of interest as well as those interested in qualitative research methodology and social theory. Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research Alecia Y. Jackson, Lisa A. Mazzei, 2022-07-29 Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research Second Edition demonstrates how to enact various philosophical concepts in practices of inquiry effectively opening up the process of thought in qualitative studies. Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research functions as a refusal of pre-given method intensifying creativity experimentation and newness. Readers are invited into the threshold of theory to traverse philosophers and their concepts reorienting conventional approaches to inquiry. Each chapter presents a thinking with process as a way of reading intensively through plugging in performative accounts of two first generation academic women to philosophical concepts from Derrida Spivak Foucault Butler Barad and Deleuze and Guattari. This book is a deliberate attempt to unsettle what is expected to be represented or recognized in terms of both meaning and method in traditional practices of qualitative research which become unproductive and untenable in this different image of thought. New to this edition Fully revised and rewritten Chapter 1 that introduces the technique of plugging in as contingent strategic movements of thought. Also new to Chapter 1 is a shift in language away from traditional practices in qualitative research data and analysis to performative accounts and becoming questions. Fully revised Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research chapter which focuses on Karen Barad's ontoepistemological framework of agential realism and the concepts of posthumanist performativity and entangled agencies. Fully revised and rewritten Chapter 8 that presents plugging in and thinking with as ontological. Further development of and new material on the plugging in technique. Schematic cues updated and extended for all of the Interludes. In the ten years since the first edition was published Thinking with Theory in Qualitative Research has become a vanguard text in the field of postfoundational inquiry for its accessible but thorough introductions to philosophically informed inquiry. This book is for experienced and novice researchers and students in introductory general and advanced qualitative inquiry courses who may also be first time readers of philosophy. This text will function as an entry into techniques of thinking with a new theoretical
