

Utilization focused evaluation is...

1. Evaluations should be JUDGED by their utility and ACTUAL USE.
2. No evaluation should go forward unless and until there are primary intended users who will use the information that can be produced.
3. Primary intended users are involved in the process.
4. Evaluation is part of initial program design. The primary intended users want information to help answer a question or questions.
5. Evaluator's role is to help intended users clarify their purpose and objectives.
6. Implications for use are part of every decision throughout the evaluation – it is the driving force of the evaluation process. (Patton, 2008a)
